DISCUSSION: The application for adjustment from temporary to permanent resident status was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director denied the adjustment application because the applicant's temporary resident status had been terminated, and the applicant was therefore not eligible for adjustment to permanent resident status. The director terminated the applicant's temporary resident status because the applicant had not provided dispositions of criminal cases.

On appeal, the applicant provides records indicating he completed an alcohol rehabilitation program.

An alien whose temporary resident status has been terminated under 8 C.F.R. § 245a.2(u) is ineligible for adjustment from temporary to permanent resident status. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.3(c)(5).

The record reveals that the applicant's temporary resident status was terminated because he failed to provide requested court dispositions. The applicant appealed such action; however, his appeal was dismissed. While the applicant has now submitted documentation in an effort to overcome the ground of termination, such documentation would have to have been submitted with the appeal of the termination in order to receive consideration.

The applicant is not a temporary resident. Therefore, he is ineligible for adjustment from temporary to permanent resident status.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility for adjustment from temporary to permanent resident status.
