FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment-based immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner<sup>1</sup> seeks classification as an employment-based immigrant pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(1)(A), as an alien of extraordinary ability. The director determined the petitioner had not established sustained national or international acclaim necessary to qualify for classification as an alien of extraordinary ability.

Section 203(b) of the Act states, in pertinent part, that:

(1) Priority Workers. -- Visas shall first be made available . . . to qualified immigrants who are aliens described in any of the following subparagraphs (A) through (C):

(A) Aliens with Extraordinary Ability. -- An alien is described in this subparagraph if

(i) the alien has extraordinary ability in the sciences, arts, education, business, or athletics which has been demonstrated by sustained national or international acclaim and whose achievements have been recognized in the field through extensive documentation,

(ii) the alien seeks to enter the United States to continue work in the area of extraordinary ability, and

(iii) the alien's entry to the United States will substantially benefit prospectively the United States.

As used in this section, the term 'extraordinary ability' means a level of expertise indicating that the individual is one of that small percentage who have risen to the very top of the field of endeavor. 8 C.F.R. 204.5(h)(2). The specific requirements for supporting documents to establish that an alien has sustained national or international acclaim and recognition in his or her field of expertise are set forth in the Service regulation at 8 C.F.R. 204.5(h)(3) as follows.

(i) Documentation of the alien's receipt of lesser nationally or internationally recognized prizes or awards for excellence in the field of endeavor;

<sup>1</sup> The petitioner listed on Part 1 of the petition and accepted by the director is Arturo Martinez of A.L. Benavides Elementary School. Mr. Martinez, however, did not sign the petition, the beneficiary did. Therefore, we will consider the beneficiary as self-petitioning and will refer to her as the petitioner.

- (ii) Documentation of the alien's membership in associations in the field for which classification is sought, which require outstanding achievements of their members, as judged by recognized national or international experts in their disciplines or fields;
- (iii) Published material about the alien in professional or major trade publications or other major media, relating to the alien's work in the field for which classification is sought. Such evidence shall include the title, date, and author of the material, and any necessary translation;
- (iv) Evidence of the alien's participation, either individually or on a panel, as a judge of the work of others in the same or an allied field of specialization for which classification is sought;
- (v) Evidence of the alien's original scientific, scholarly, artistic, athletic, or business-related contributions of major significance in the field;
- (vi) Evidence of the alien's authorship of scholarly articles in the field, in professional or major trade publications or other major media;
- (vii) Evidence of the display of the alien's work in the field at artistic exhibitions or showcases;
- (viii) Evidence that the alien has performed in a leading or critical role for organizations or establishments that have a distinguished reputation;
- (ix) Evidence that the alien has commanded a high salary or other significantly high remuneration for services, in relation to others in the field; or
- (x) Evidence of commercial successes in the performing arts, as shown by box office receipts or record, cassette, compact disk, or video sales.

It should be reiterated, however, that the petitioner must show that the beneficiary has sustained national or international acclaim at the very top level.

The petitioner did not list any information about prospective employment. At the time of filing, the petitioner was a 10 year-old elementary school student. While the law permits extraordinary ability in the field of education, academic study is not a field of endeavor. Rather, it is training for a future field of endeavor. The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 204.5(h)(3) indicates that an alien can establish sustained national or international acclaim through evidence of a one-time achievement (that is, a major, international recognized award). Barring the alien's receipt of such an award, the regulation outlines ten criteria, quoted above, at least three of which must be satisfied for an alien to establish the sustained acclaim necessary to qualify as an alien of extraordinary ability.

Initially, the petitioner submitted a letter from the principal of A.L. Benavides Elementary School confirming that the petitioner has been a student there since August 17, 1995.

On March 18, 2002, the director advised the petitioner of the ten criteria and requested evidence that the beneficiary meets at least three of those criteria. In response, the petitioner submitted her school transcripts reflecting above average grades, certificates from the school regarding her completion of kindergarten, perfect attendance, summer school attendance, honor roll inclusion, and honor student status. The petitioner also received certificates from the School Board, the local District Attorney, and the State of Texas for perfect attendance as well as a certificate from Six Flags for her participation in the 600-Minute Reading Club.

The director concluded that the petitioner had failed to submit evidence of the beneficiary's sustained national or international acclaim. On appeal, the petitioner submitted evidence that she was promoted to the sixth grade and participated in the South Texas Writing Project. The certificates she received were all from her school and the local government and are not reflective of national acclaim. Regardless, as stated above, an elementary school student is not practicing in the field of education.

The statute requires extensive documentation to establish eligibility for this classification. The regulations require that an alien of extraordinary ability be able to demonstrate sustained national or international acclaim. Assuming that the beneficiary is a good student, the record does not reflect that she has attained any national acclaim for that talent. Specifically, the petitioner has not submitted documentation that relates to any of the ten criteria.

The documentation submitted in support of a claim of extraordinary ability must clearly demonstrate that the alien has achieved sustained national or international acclaim and is one of the small percentage who has risen to the very top of the field of endeavor.

Review of the record, however, does not establish that the petitioner has distinguished herself as a student to such an extent that she may be said to have achieved sustained national or international acclaim. Even if she had, she still would not have extraordinary ability in a field of endeavor. Therefore, the petitioner has not established eligibility pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Act and the petition may not be approved.

The burden of proof in visa petition proceedings remains entirely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. Here, the petitioner has not sustained that burden. Accordingly, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
