Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment-based immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner seeks classification as an employment-based immigrant pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(1)(A), as an alien of extraordinary ability in the sciences. The director determined the petitioner had not established the sustained national or international acclaim necessary to qualify for classification as an alien of extraordinary ability.

8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part, “[a]n officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.”

On the Form I-290B Notice of Appeal, the petitioner indicated that he was “not submitting a separate brief or evidence.” Thus, the statement on the appeal form itself represents the entirety of the appeal. The statement on the appeal form reads simply “I believe that my case was underestimated, and deserves to be fully reevaluated.” This is a general statement that makes no specific allegation of error. The bare assertion that the director somehow erred in rendering the decision is not sufficient basis for a substantive appeal. The director’s decision contains numerous specific observations regarding shortcomings in the petitioner’s evidence. The petitioner does not address any of these findings, offering instead only the general statement that his petition ought to be “fully reevaluated.” The petition has already been adjudicated, and the appeal process is not simply an opportunity to request multiple re-adjudications until the desired outcome is achieved.

Inasmuch as the petitioner has failed to identify specifically an erroneous conclusion of law or a statement of fact as a basis for the appeal, the appeal must be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
