Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment based immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Nebraska Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner seeks classification pursuant to section 203(b)(2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(2), as a member of the professions holding an advanced degree. The petitioner asserts that an exemption from the requirement of a job offer, and thus of a labor certification, is in the national interest of the United States. The director found that the petitioner qualifies for classification as a member of the professions holding an advanced degree, but that the petitioner had not established that an exemption from the requirement of a job offer would be in the national interest of the United States.

On appeal, counsel states: "The INS [failed] to consider evidence in the record. The INS also erred in determining that the alien is not significant to his research project."

Counsel misstates the director's finding. In the notice of denial, the director specifically stated that the petitioner "played an important role" in his current and former research projects. The director concluded, however, that the petitioner had failed to demonstrate that his contributions have "influenced the field to a substantially greater extent" than those of other researchers working in his field.

Counsel indicated that a brief and/or evidence would be submitted to the Administrative Appeals Office within thirty days.

Counsel dated the appeal May 6, 2001. As of this date, more than twenty-three months later, the AAO has received nothing further.

As stated in 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v), an appeal shall be summarily dismissed if the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

The petitioner has not specifically addressed the reasons stated for denial and has not provided any additional evidence. The appeal must therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
