FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a travel and tourism service company. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a marketing analyst. Accordingly, the petitioner filed the current petition to classify the beneficiary as a professional pursuant to section 203(b)(3)(A)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(ii). The director determined that the beneficiary did not possess the required educational background, as stated on the Form ETA-750, Application for Alien Employment Certification.

On appeal, counsel argues that the Service overlooked the educational evaluation.

Section 203(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act) states:

(A) In general. - Visas shall be made available, in a number not to exceed 28.6 percent of such worldwide level, plus any visas not required for the classes specified in paragraphs (1) and (2), to the following classes of aliens who are not described in paragraph (2):

(i) Skilled workers. - Qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least 2 years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

(ii) Professionals. - Qualified immigrants who hold baccalaureate degrees and who are members of the professions.

As required by 8 CFR 204.5(l)(3)(i), the petitioner submitted an individual labor certification, Form ETA-750, which has been endorsed by the Department of Labor. At block 14, the labor certification states that the minimum qualifications required for the position are a Bachelor of Arts degree in Travel and Tourism, plus one year of experience in the job offered.

The record indicates that the beneficiary holds an Associate in Arts from the City College of San Francisco.

In his decision, the director found that the beneficiary "does not hold a baccalaureate degree in the field of study of the desired profession." Instead, the director found that the beneficiary possessed a degree in Sociology. Accordingly, the director concluded that the beneficiary did not possess the minimum required education, as stated on the Form ETA-750.

On appeal, counsel argues that the beneficiary has, as a result of his education, employment experiences, and specialized training, the equivalent of a Bachelor's degree in Travel and Tourism from an accredited college or university in the United States."

The record contains an educational evaluation from the Foundation for International Services, Inc., which states that the beneficiary has three years transferable toward the degree of Bachelor of Sociology from a regionally accredited university in the United States.

Counsel's reliance on the educational evaluation is misplaced since the evaluator states that the degree is the "equivalent" of a four year degree. As noted previously, the labor certification, at block 14, specifically requires a four-year bachelor's degree as the minimum level of education needed to perform the job duties. The labor certification does not provide for a degree equivalent as the minimum level of education, regardless of whether the equivalency is based on work experience, training, or a combination of lesser degrees. The beneficiary has not completed the required four-year degree.

The Service uses an evaluation by a credentials evaluation organization of a person's foreign education as an advisory opinion only. Where an evaluation is not in accord with previous equivalencies or is any way questionable, it may be discounted or given less weight. Matter of Sea, Inc., 19 I&N Dec. 817, 820 (Comm., 1988).

Despite counsel's arguments, the Service will not accept a degree equivalency when a labor certification plainly and expressly requires a candidate with a specific degree. To determine whether a beneficiary is eligible for a third preference immigrant visa, the Service must ascertain whether the alien is in fact qualified for the certified job. In evaluating the beneficiary's qualifications, the Service must look to the job offer portion of the labor certification to determine the required qualifications for the position; the Service may not ignore a term of the labor certification, nor may it impose additional requirements. See Matter of Silver Dragon Chinese Restaurant, 19 I&N Dec. 401, 406 (Comm. 1986). See also Madany v. Smith, 696 F.2d 1008 (D.C. Cir. 1983); K.R.K. Irvine, Inc. v. Landon, 699 F.2d 1006 (9th Cir. Cal. 1983); Stewart Infra-Red Commissary of Massachusetts, Inc. v. Coomey, 661 F.2d 1 (1st Cir. 1981). Here, block 14 of the Form ETA-750 plainly states that a four-year bachelor's degree is the minimum level of education required to adequately perform the certified job. As the beneficiary has not earned a bachelor's degree, he does not qualify for the certified position.

The beneficiary does not qualify for the proffered position as he does not possess the specific degree required by the labor certification, a four-year Bachelor of Arts degree in Travel and Tourism as of April 21, 2000. Accordingly, the beneficiary is not eligible for classification under Section 203(b)(3) as either a skilled worker or a professional, based on the current labor certification.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
