INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision in your case. All documents have been returned to the office which originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

If you believe the law was inappropriately applied or the analysis used in reaching the decision was inconsistent with the information provided or with precedent decisions, you may file a motion to reconsider. Such a motion must state the reasons for reconsideration and be supported by any pertinent precedent decisions. Any motion to reconsider must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider, as required under 8 C.F.R. 103.5(a)(1)(i).

If you have new or additional information which you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reopen. Such a motion must state the new facts to be proved at the reopened proceeding and be supported by affidavits or other documentary evidence. Any motion to reopen must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reopen, except that failure to file before this period expires may be excused in the discretion of the Service where it is demonstrated that the delay was reasonable and beyond the control of the applicant or petitioner. Id.

Any motion must be filed with the office which originally decided your case along with a fee of $110 as required under 8 C.F.R. 103.7.

FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a wholesale and retail Russian specialty bakery. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a food technologist. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the filing date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a statement and additional evidence.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's filing date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's filing date is December 4, 1995. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $673.00 per week or $34,996.00 per annum.

Counsel initially submitted insufficient evidence of the petitioner's ability to pay the proffered wage. On November 30, 2000, the director requested additional evidence of the petitioner's ability to pay the proffered wage at the time of filing.

In response, counsel submitted a copy of the petitioner's 1995 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return which reflected gross receipts of $636,555; gross profit of $187,301; compensation of officers of $31,200; salaries and wages paid of $30,023; depreciation of $11,633; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $1,721. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $35,657 with $16,296 in cash and total current liabilities of $67,293. The director concluded that the evidence submitted did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage as of the filing date of the petition and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submits another copy of the petitioner's 1995 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return and states that:

Please review amended return [REDACTED] for the year 1995. Gross receipts were under estimated by $57,836.00. Since [REDACTED] using accrual method of accounting they showed of records $57,836.00 from Standard II, Inc. These receipts were collected in the year 1996. See attached letter from Standard II, Inc.

A review of the initially submitted 1995 federal tax return shows that when one adds the depreciation and the taxable income, the result is $13,354, less than the proffered wage.

A review of the petitioner's re-submitted 1995 federal tax return shows a new taxable income of $59,522. There is no evidence in the record which verifies that the Form 1120 with the new taxable income figure was actually filed with the Internal Revenue Service. It is incumbent upon the petitioner to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence, and attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth, in fact, lies, will not suffice. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582 (BIA 1988).

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
