Any motion must be filed with the office which originally decided your case along with a fee of $110 as required under 8 C.F.R. 103.7.

FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Unit

DISCUSSION: The employment-based preference immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a painting contractor. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a painter. As required by statute, the petition was accompanied by an individual labor certification from the Department of Labor. The director determined the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary's proffered wage as of the filing date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence.

Section 203(b)(3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled or unskilled labor, not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states, in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's filing date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's filing date is April 5, 1999. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $13.74 per hour or $28,579.20 per annum.

Counsel submitted copies of the petitioner's 1998 and 1999 Form 1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return including Schedule C, Profit and Loss from Business Statement. The petitioner's 1998 Form 1040 reflected an adjusted gross income of $25,376. Schedule C reflected gross receipts of $48,960; gross profit of $48,960; depreciation of $0; wages of $9,500; and a net profit of $18,376. The 1999 Form 1040 reflected an adjusted gross income of $30,597.

Schedule C reflected gross receipts of $67,200; gross profit of $67,200; depreciation of $0; wages of $0; and a net profit of $21,242.

The director determined that the documentation was insufficient to establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submitted a copy of the petitioner's 2000 Form 1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return including Schedule C, Profit and Loss from Business. The 2000 Form 1040 reflected an adjusted gross income of $36,924. Schedule C reflected gross receipts of $95,300; gross profit of $95,300; depreciation of $0; wages of $0; and a net profit of $27,556.

Counsel argues that the petitioner incurred unexpected medical expenses and was incapacitated for a long period of time, however, once he was well enough to return to his business, he began paying subcontractors again.

Counsel asserts that the employment of the beneficiary will help expand the business and eliminate the use of independent contractors. The petitioner's assertion that the funds paid to independent contractors could be used to pay the beneficiary's salary is not persuasive. These funds were not retained by the petitioner for future use. Instead, these monies were expended on compensating other workers, and therefore, not readily available for payment of the beneficiary's salary in 1999. Based on the evidence submitted, it cannot be found that the petitioner had sufficient funds available to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage at the time of filing the application for alien employment certification as required by 8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2).

The petitioner has submitted no persuasive documentation to establish that it had the financial ability to pay the proffered wage at the time of filing of the petition.

Accordingly, after a review of the federal tax returns, it is concluded that the petitioner has not established that it had sufficient available funds to pay the salary offered at the time of filing of the petition and continuing to present.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
