FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Helen E Crawford for
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a commercial vehicle refrigeration and repair company. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a refrigeration mechanic. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the filing date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's filing date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's filing date is September 9, 1996. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $11.00 per hour or $22,880.00 per annum.

Counsel submitted copies of the petitioner's 1996, 1997, and 1998

Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return. The 1996 federal tax return reflected gross receipts of $163,112; gross profit of $75,434; compensation of officers of $0; salaries and wages paid of $0; depreciation of $0; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $29,044. Schedule L was not submitted. The 1997 federal tax return reflected gross receipts of $174,769; gross profit of $75,947; compensation of officers of $0; salaries and wages paid of $0; depreciation of $0; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $25,179. Schedule L was not submitted.

The 1998 federal tax return reflected gross receipts of $150,155; gross profit of $88,227; compensation of officers of $0; salaries and wages paid of $0; depreciation of $0; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $37,120. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $0 and total current liabilities of $2,005.

The director determined that the evidence did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submits a copy of the petitioner's 1999 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return which reflects gross receipts of $155,194; gross profit of $83,584; compensation of officers of $0; salaries and wages paid of $70,058; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of -$45,845.

Counsel argues that the petitioner had sufficient funds to pay the beneficiary's wage.

Counsel's argument is not persuasive. A review of the 1996 federal tax return shows that when one adds the taxable income and the depreciation, the result is $29,044, an amount sufficient to pay the proffered wage.

In addition, the 1997 and 1998 federal tax returns continue to show that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage.

The petitioner's 1999 federal tax return, however, shows that when one adds the depreciation and the taxable income, the result is -$45,845, less than the proffered wage.

The petitioner must show that it has the ability to pay the proffered wage at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Based on the evidence submitted, it cannot be found that the petitioner had sufficient funds available to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage at the time of filing the application for alien employment certification and continuing to present as required by 8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2). Therefore, the petition may not be approved.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
