FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a medical group. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a medical billing supervisor. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the filing date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's filing date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's filing date is January 17, 1996. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $16.50 per hour or $34,320.00 per annum.

Counsel submitted a copy of the petitioner's 1999 Form 1120 U.S.

Corporation Income Tax Return which reflected gross receipts of $167,301; gross profit of $167,301; compensation of officers of $60,109; salaries and wages paid of $10,109; depreciation of $2,752; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $10,776. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $40,819 with $40,669 in cash and total current liabilities of $3,657.

The director determined that the additional evidence did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submits copies of the petitioner's 1996, 1997, and 1998 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return. The 1996 federal tax return reflects gross receipts of $189,763; gross profit of $189,763; compensation of officers of $60,000; salaries and wages paid of $21,292; depreciation of $4,004; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $2,580. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $58,332 with $53,248 in cash and total current liabilities of $12,192. The 1997 federal tax return reflects gross receipts of $161,144; gross profit of $157,693; compensation of officers of $85,000; salaries and wages paid of $17,171; depreciation of $3,010; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of -$35,428. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $22,673 in cash and total current liabilities of $10,408.

The 1998 federal tax return reflects gross receipts of $147,665; gross profit of $147,665; compensation of officers of $47,500; salaries and wages paid of $10,927; depreciation of $3,010; and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of $10,105. Schedule L reflected total current assets of $28,901 in cash and total current liabilities of $4,237.

Counsel argues that:

The Officers of the [REDACTED] Inc., would each contribute an equal share to cover the salary of the Alien Worker, and still each take home income from the business. The willingness of the Officers to contribute a portion of their income to the Medical Billing Supervisor, stems from their desire to spend less time on the billing, and more time with their patients.

Counsel's argument that the officers of the medical group could pay the wage from their personal assets is not persuasive. A corporation is a separate and distinct legal entity from its owners or stockholders. Consequently, any assets of its stockholders or of other enterprises or corporations cannot be considered in determining the petitioning corporation's ability to pay the proffered wage. See Matter of M, 8 I&N Dec.24 (BIA 1958; AG 1958); Matter of Aphrodite Investments Limited, 17 I&N Dec. 530 (Comm. 1980); and Matter of Tessel, 17 I&N Dec. 631 (Act. Assoc. Comm. 1980).

A review of the 1997 federal tax return shows that when one adds the depreciation the taxable income, and the cash on hand at year end (to the extent that total current assets exceed total current liabilities), the result is -$20,153, less than the proffered wage.

The 1996, 1998, and 1999 federal tax returns show that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage, however, the petitioner must show that it had the ability to pay the proffered wage at the time of filing of the petition and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent resident status. See 8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2).

Accordingly, after a review of the federal tax returns, it is concluded that the petitioner has not established that it had sufficient available funds to pay the salary offered at the time of filing of the petition and continuing to present.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
