FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be sustained.

The petitioner is a precision machining company. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a computer numerical control machinist. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the priority date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional evidence.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's priority date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's priority date is November 16, 2000. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $15.43 per hour or $32,094.40 per annum.

Counsel initially submitted insufficient evidence of the petitioner's ability to pay the proffered wage. On October 9, 2001, the director requested additional evidence to establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage.

In response, counsel submitted a letter which stated that he was including the petitioner's 1999 tax return because the 2000 tax return was not completed.

The director determined that the evidence submitted did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly. The director noted that "INS never received your 1999 tax forms and was unable to verify your ability to pay the proffered wage."

On appeal, counsel submits a copy of a 2000 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return for [REDACTED] & Subsidiaries which reflects net current assets of $7,681,133.

Counsel argues that:

[REDACTED] does have the ability to pay the proffered wage. Enclosed please find the Year 2000 tax return for Precision Partners Holding, Co. & Subsidiaries. Mid State Machine Products, Inc. is a subsidiary of Precision Partners Holding, Co. We just received this last week.

Counsel's argument is persuasive. The Form 1120 for calendar year 2000 for [REDACTED] & Subsidiaries shows net current assets of $7,681,133. The petitioner could pay a proffered wage of $32,094.40 a year out of this income.

Accordingly, after a review of the federal tax return submitted, it is concluded that the petitioner has established that it had sufficient available funds to pay the salary offered as of the priority date of the petition.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is sustained.
