FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a restaurant. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a cook. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the filing date of the visa petition.

On appeal, the petitioner submits a brief.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's filing date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's filing date is July 17, 1997. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $698.00 per week or $36,296.00 per annum.

The petitioner initially submitted copies of its 1997 through 1999 income tax returns. The 1999 1120S U.S. Income Tax Return for an

S Corporation reflected gross receipts of [REDACTED] gross profit of [REDACTED] compensation of officers of [REDACTED] salaries and wages paid of [REDACTED] and an ordinary income (loss) from trade or business activities of [REDACTED]. The 1998 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return reflected gross receipts of [REDACTED] gross profit of [REDACTED]; compensation of officers of [REDACTED] salaries and wages paid of [REDACTED] and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of [REDACTED].

The Form 1999 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return reflected gross receipts of [REDACTED] gross profit of [REDACTED] compensation of officers of [REDACTED] salaries and wages paid of [REDACTED] and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of [REDACTED].

On August 16, 2001, the director requested additional evidence to establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage.

In response, the petitioner submitted a copy of its 2000 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return which reflected gross receipts of [REDACTED] gross profit of [REDACTED] compensation of officers of [REDACTED] salaries and wages paid of [REDACTED] and a taxable income before net operating loss deduction and special deductions of - [REDACTED].

The director determined that the evidence did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, the petitioner argues that it submitted sufficient evidence of its ability to pay the proffered wage.

The petitioner's Form 1120S for the calendar year 1997 shows an ordinary income of [REDACTED]. The petitioner could not pay a proffered salary of [REDACTED] out of this income.

In addition, the petitioner's 1998, 1999, and 2000 federal tax returns continue to show an inability to pay the wage offered.

Accordingly, after a review of the federal tax returns, it is concluded that the petitioner has not established that it had sufficient available funds to pay the salary offered at the time of filing of the petition and continuing to present.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
