FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The preference visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be sustained.

The petitioner is a construction firm. It seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a stonemason. As required by statute, the petition is accompanied by an individual labor certification approved by the Department of Labor. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that it had the financial ability to pay the beneficiary the proffered wage as of the priority date of the visa petition.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief and additional parts of tax returns already in evidence.

Section 203(b)(3)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(3)(A)(i), provides for the granting of preference classification to qualified immigrants who are capable, at the time of petitioning for classification under this paragraph, of performing skilled labor (requiring at least two years training or experience), not of a temporary or seasonal nature, for which qualified workers are not available in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 204.5(g)(2) states in pertinent part:

Ability of prospective employer to pay wage. Any petition filed by or for an employment-based immigrant which requires an offer of employment must be accompanied by evidence that the prospective United States employer has the ability to pay the proffered wage. The petitioner must demonstrate this ability at the time the priority date is established and continuing until the beneficiary obtains lawful permanent residence. Evidence of this ability shall be either in the form of copies of annual reports, federal tax returns, or audited financial statements.

Eligibility in this matter hinges on the petitioner's ability to pay the wage offered as of the petition's priority date, which is the date the request for labor certification was accepted for processing by any office within the employment system of the Department of Labor. Matter of Wing's Tea House, 16 I&N Dec. 158 (Act. Reg. Comm. 1977). Here, the petition's priority date is January 13, 1998. The beneficiary's salary as stated on the labor certification is $30.69 per hour for a 35 hour week or $55,855.80 per annum.

Counsel initially submitted insufficient evidence of the petitioner's ability to pay the proffered wage. The director concluded that the evidence submitted did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage as of the priority date of the petition. On September 4, 2001, the director requested additional evidence to establish that the petitioner either had the ability to pay the proffered wage as of January 13, 1998 or had paid it to the beneficiary.

Counsel submitted copies of the petitioner's 1998 and 1999 Form 1120 U.S. Corporation Income Tax Returns without Schedule L, the balance sheet. The federal tax return for 1998 reflected taxable income of -$3,242, a loss, and for 1999 a taxable income of $17,101.

The director determined that the evidence did not establish that the petitioner had the ability to pay the proffered wage and denied the petition accordingly.

On appeal, counsel submits the petitioner's 1998 and 1999 tax returns with Schedule L. Counsel states, however, that the returns previously submitted without Schedule L reveal sufficient assets to pay the proffered wage. The Schedules L show that net current assets (current assets less current liabilities) for 1998 was $209,785 and for 1999 was $72,372, more than enough to pay the proffered wage of $55,855.80.

Accordingly, after a review of the federal tax returns, it is concluded that the petitioner has established that it had sufficient available funds to pay the salary offered as of the priority date of the petition and continuing to present.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is sustained.
