Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner seeks classification of the beneficiary as a special immigrant religious worker pursuant to section 203(b)(4) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the "Act"), 8 U.S.C. § 1153(b)(4), in order to employ her as a religious worker in the church's adult literacy program.

The director denied the petition finding that the evidence of record was not sufficient in establishing that the beneficiary had been performing full-time work in a religious occupation for the two-year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition. The director further determined that the petitioner had failed to establish that the position offered constitutes a qualifying religious occupation.

On appeal, in a letter dated November 12, 2002, an elder for the petitioning organization states that the church is requesting an additional 30 days, until December 11, 2002, as more time is needed to assemble additional evidence. To date, no additional information or evidence has been received.

As no additional information has been provided in support of the appeal, the record must be considered complete.

Regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 103.3 (a)(1)(v) state, in pertinent part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

On appeal, the petitioner expresses disagreement with the decision of the director, but fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal. As the petitioner has provided no additional evidence on appeal to overcome the decision of the director, the appeal is dismissed in accordance with 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v).

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed
