IN RE: Petitioner: [Redacted]
Beneficiary: [Redacted]

PETITION: Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker Pursuant to Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b)

ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER:

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The service center director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed. The petition will be denied.

The petitioner provides real estate management, bookkeeping and tax services to the general public and seeks to employ the beneficiary as an accountant. The petitioner endeavors to classify the beneficiary as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

The director denied the petition because the proffered position does not qualify as a specialty occupation. On appeal counsel submits a brief stating that the offered position qualifies as a specialty occupation.

The issue to be discussed in this proceeding is whether the proffered position qualifies as a specialty occupation.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides, in part, for the classification of qualified nonimmigrant aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation.

Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(i)(1), defines the term "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires:

- (A) theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and
- (B) attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

The term "specialty occupation" is further defined at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

[A]n occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

- (1) A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
- (2) The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;

- (3) The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
- (4) The nature of the specific duties are so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) interprets the term "degree" in the criteria at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A) to mean not just any baccalaureate or higher degree, but one in a specific specialty that is directly related to the proffered position.

The record of proceeding before the AAO contains: (1) the Form I-129 and supporting documentation; (2) the director's request for additional evidence; (3) the petitioner's response to the director's request; (4) the director's denial letter; and (5) the Form I-290B with counsel's brief. The AAO reviewed the record in its entirety before issuing its decision.

The petitioner is seeking the beneficiary's services as an accountant. Evidence of the beneficiary's duties includes the Form I-129 petition with attachment and the petitioner's response to the director's request for evidence. According to this evidence the beneficiary would: perform budget planning which involves analyzing past and present financial operations and estimating future resources and expenditures to aid in budget preparation; analyze trends and costs, estimated and realized revenues, and contractual obligations to project future revenues and expenses; perform cost analysis which involves collecting data to determine the costs of business activity such as raw materials, labor, and inventory; prepare financial reports which includes analysis of financial transactions to prepare entries to accounts such as general ledger accounts to document business transactions; detail assets, liabilities and capital in order to prepare balance sheets, profit and loss statements, and other management and government reports; administer contracts which requires a review of all final contracts to substantiate transactions; and establish, modify and/or implement accounting control procedures. The petitioner requires a minimum of a bachelor's degree in accounting for entry into the proffered position.

The petitioner asserts that it is a real estate management, bookkeeping and tax and accounting services firm that provides, among other services, accounting services to its clients. The Form I-129 lists its gross annual income as $800,000. No tax records or other financial documentation is in the file which would corroborate the petitioner's statements on the Form I-129. The record does not contain any documentary evidence indicating that the firm provides accounting services as stated by the petitioner. Simply going on the record without supporting documentary evidence is not sufficient for the purpose of meeting the burden of proof in these proceedings. Matter of Treasure Craft of California, 14 I&N Dec. 190 (Reg. Comm. 1972).

Upon review of the record, the petitioner has failed to establish that the proffered position qualifies as a specialty occupation. The AAO routinely consults the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook (Handbook) for information about the duties and educational requirements of particular occupations. The duties of the proffered position appear to be essentially those noted for bookkeepers, accounting or financial clerks. In the Handbook, the Department Of Labor describes, in part, those duties as follows:

Bookkeeping, accounting, and auditing clerks are an organization's financial record keepers.

They update and maintain one or more accounting records, including those that tabulate expenditures, receipts, accounts payable and receivable, and profit and loss. . . .

In small establishments, bookkeeping clerks handle all financial transactions and recordkeeping. They record all transactions, post debits and credits, produce financial statements, and prepare reports and summaries for supervisors and managers. . . . They also may handle the payroll, make purchases, prepare invoices, and keep track of overdue accounts.

More advanced accounting clerks total, balance and reconcile billing vouchers, ensure completeness and accuracy of data on accounts, . . . [and] review invoices and statements to ensure that all information is accurate and complete

Financial clerks . . . record all amounts coming into or leaving an organization. . . . Other clerks keep track of a store's inventory

The duties of financial clerks vary with the size of the firm. In a small business, a bookkeeper may handle all financial records and transactions, as well as payroll and billing duties. . . .

The majority of the duties of the proffered position appear to fall within those listed above. As described by the petitioner, they are fairly generic in nature and do not appear to be of such complexity that they require the theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge. For example, the petitioner states that the beneficiary will: perform budget planning; analyze the cost of materials, labor and inventory; substantiate transactions in contracts; and implement accounting control procedures. Bookkeepers, accounting and financial clerks routinely assist in budget preparation and performance of accounting duties associated with cost accounting, as well as review cost items in contracts and set up accounting control procedures. They also prepare management and government reports, apply principles of accounting in analyzing financial information, and prepare financial reports, profit and loss statements, balance sheets, and other accounting documents relied upon by management in the operation of a business. On a daily basis these bookkeepers, financial and accounting clerks: prepare entries to accounts; document business transactions; analyze financial information detailing assets, liabilities and capital; and audit contracts, orders and vouchers prior to settlement. All of the duties set forth by the petitioner, as described, are performed by the aforementioned professions. On the other hand, and according to the Handbook, management accountants record and analyze financial information of the companies for which they work. Their responsibilities include budgeting, performance evaluation, cost and asset management. They are also usually part of executive teams involved in strategic planning or new-product development. The duties of the proffered position are not of the complexity or strategic importance of those described for management accountants. The Handbook notes that the majority of financial clerk/bookkeeping positions require at least a high school diploma, but that some college education is becoming increasingly important for occupations requiring knowledge of accounting. An associate degree in business or accounting is often required for accounting and procurement clerks, as well as occupations in bookkeeping. The petitioner has, therefore, failed to establish that a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, is normally the minimum requirement for the performance of these duties. 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(I).

The petitioner does not assert that a degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations for the proffered position, or that it normally requires a degree for entry into the position, and offers no evidence in this regard. The petitioner has, therefore, failed to establish the referenced criteria at 8 C.F.R. §§ 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) or (3).

Finally, the duties of the proffered position appear to be routine for bookkeeper, accounting, and financial clerks. They are not so complex or unique that they can be performed only by an individual with a degree in a specific specialty. Nor are they so specialized or complex that knowledge required to perform them is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specific specialty. The duties are performed on a regular basis by individuals with less than a baccalaureate level education in a specific specialty. The petitioner has failed to established the referenced criteria at 8 C.F.R. §§ 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) or (4).

The petitioner has failed to establish that the offered position meets any of the criteria listed at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A). Accordingly, the AAO shall not disturb the director's denial of the petition.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden and the appeal shall accordingly be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition is denied.
