FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is engaged in adventure travel and operates an "eco-tourism" lodge and camps. The firm employs 8 persons and has a gross income of over $590,000. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a public relations specialist for a period of three years. The director determined the petitioner had not established that the offered position is a specialty occupation.

On appeal, counsel argues that the director erred as a matter of law when she failed to show in the denial that she had properly considered all of the information in the Department of Labor's (DOL) Occupational Outlook Handbook (Handbook). Counsel states that the director failed to consider information regarding the defined bachelor's degree requirement for entry into a public relations career, as well as the statement in the petitioner's letter of support regarding its requirement of a bachelor's degree or its equivalent for this petition.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides in part for nonimmigrant classification to qualified aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation. Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to section 214(i)(2) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(2), to qualify as an alien coming to perform services in a specialty occupation the beneficiary must hold full state licensure to practice in the occupation, if such licensure is required to practice in the occupation. In addition, the beneficiary must have completed the degree required for the occupation, or have experience in the specialty equivalent to the completion of such degree and recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions relating to the specialty.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(C), to qualify to perform services in a specialty occupation, the alien must meet one of the following criteria:

1. Hold a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;

2. Hold a foreign degree determined to be equivalent to a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;

3. Hold an unrestricted State license, registration, or certification which authorizes him or her to fully practice the specialty occupation and be immediately engaged in that specialty in the state of intended employment; or

4. Have education, specialized training, and/or progressively responsible experience that is equivalent to completion of a United States baccalaureate or higher degree in the specialty occupation and have recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions directly related to the specialty.

The beneficiary earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1984 in the English language from Dokkyo University in Japan.

The term "specialty occupation" is defined at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

an occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

1. A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;

2. The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;

3. The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or

4. The nature of the specific duties is so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

The duties of the offered position are described as follows:

She will be responsible for promotion of our travel services and facilities on the international level, particularly, in the Asian, including Japan, markets. She will design and implement public relations and marketing plans, prepare marketing materials, represent our company at the professional conferences and other business gatherings, prepare and conduct presentations.

The petitioner has failed to establish that any of the four factors enumerated above are present in this proceeding. The petitioner has not shown that it has, in the past, required the services of individuals with baccalaureate or higher degrees in a specialized area for the proffered position. In addition, the petitioner has not shown that similar firms require the services of such individuals in parallel positions.

In these proceedings, the duties of the position are dispositive and not the job title. The offered position appears to combine the duties of a public affairs specialist with those of a marketing manager. In its Handbook, 2000-2001 edition, at pages 241-243, the DOL does not state that a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specialized area is required for employment as a public relations specialist. Although the Handbook indicates that many entry-level public relations specialists have a college major in public relations, journalism, advertising, or communications, other employers seek applicants with demonstrated communication skills and training or experience in a field related to the firm's business such as science, engineering, sales, or finance.

The Handbook at pages 25-26 also lists no requirement of a baccalaureate degree in a specialized area for employment as a marketing manager. A wide range of educational backgrounds are considered suitable for entry into marketing managerial positions. Some employers prefer degrees in business administration but bachelor's degrees in various liberal arts fields are also acceptable. Certain personal qualities and participation in company training programs are often considered as significant as the beneficiary's specific educational background.

It is noted that the record contains letters from various experts indicating in part that a public relations specialist position normally requires a bachelor's degree in English or in a communications-related area. In addition, the record contains a booklet from the Public Relations Society of America which provides practical information to help persons obtain their first public relations job. The booklet indicates that "[a] college degree is essential and a basic grounding in the liberal arts is strongly recommended." As such, the record indicates that while a baccalaureate degree is often required for public relations positions, there is no indication that a degree in a specialized area is required. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has not demonstrated that the offered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of the regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
