FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann

Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the director and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a computer systems and peripherals distributor business with 45 employees and a gross annual income of $50 million. It seeks to extend its authorization to employ the beneficiary as an account executive for a period of one year. The director determined the beneficiary had already spent the maximum allowable period of stay in the U.S. in an H classification.

On appeal, counsel argues that the H-3 classification should not be counted toward the 6-year limit of an H-1B classification.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides in part for nonimmigrant classification to qualified aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation. Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(13)(iii)(A) states in part that:

An H-1B alien in a specialty occupation or an alien of distinguished merit and ability who has spent six years in the United States under section 101(a)(15)(H) and/or (L) of the Act may not seek extension, change status, or be readmitted to the United States under section 101(a)(15)(H) or (L) of the Act unless the alien has resided and been physically present outside the United States, except for brief trips for business or pleasure, for the immediate prior year.

Despite counsel's argument that the H-3 classification should not be included in the 6-year limitation of the H-1B classification, the regulation noted above makes no such distinction. Upon review of the record, the evidence indicates that the beneficiary has already spent the maximum allowable period of stay in the U.S. in an H classification, and therefore is ineligible for the requested extension. For this reason, the petition may not be approved

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden. Accordingly, the decision of the director will not be disturbed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
