FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the director and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be sustained.

The petitioner is a pre-elementary school and daycare for children from the ages of three to six years with five employees and a gross annual income of $150,000. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a teacher for a period of three years. The director determined the petitioner had not established that the proffered position is a specialty occupation.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief.

The term "specialty occupation" is defined at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

an occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

1. A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
2. The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;
3. The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
4. The nature of the specific duties is so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

The director denied the petition because the record demonstrates that a wide range of educational backgrounds is considered suitable for entry into the position of Montessori teacher. On appeal, counsel states that although many educational backgrounds are acceptable, what is important is that a bachelor's degree is the normal requirement for entry into a Montessori position.

The duties of the proffered position are described in pertinent part as follows:

As a Montessori teacher, [the beneficiary] will instruct children ages 3 to 6 years in the Montessori education. She will lead activities designed to promote social, physical and intellectual growth. She will plan individual and group activities to stimulate growth in English as a second language to the children who do not speak English at home, social and motor skills, such as learning to listen to instructions, playing with other children and using play equipment. She will also communicate with children and parents who have limited knowledge of the English language.

It is noted that the Handbook, 1998-1999 edition, states at page 334 that:

Other schools require their own specialized training. Montessori preschool teachers must complete an additional year of training after receiving their bachelor's degree in early childhood education or a related field.

The proffered position appears to be that of a school teacher. The Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook, 2000-2001 edition, at pages 183-185 indicates that a minimum requirement for employment as a school teacher is a bachelor's degree and completion of an approved teacher training program. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has demonstrated that the proffered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is sustained.
