FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is engaged in the creation and design of jewelry. The firm employs one person and has a gross annual income of $82,179. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a jewelry designer for a three year period. The director determined the petitioner had not established that the offered position is a specialty occupation.

On appeal, counsel argues that the offered position is a specialty occupation and the beneficiary is qualified to perform the duties of a specialty occupation.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides in part for nonimmigrant classification to qualified aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation. Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to section 214(i)(2) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(2), to qualify as an alien coming to perform services in a specialty occupation the beneficiary must hold full state licensure to practice in the occupation, if such licensure is required to practice in the occupation. In addition, the beneficiary must have completed the degree required for the occupation, or have experience in the specialty equivalent to the completion of such degree and recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions relating to the specialty.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(C), to qualify to perform services in a specialty occupation, the alien must meet one of the following criteria:

1. Hold a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;
2. Hold a foreign degree determined to be equivalent to a United States baccalaureate or higher degree required by the specialty occupation from an accredited college or university;

3. Hold an unrestricted State license, registration, or certification which authorizes him or her to fully practice the specialty occupation and be immediately engaged in that specialty in the state of intended employment; or

4. Have education, specialized training, and/or progressively responsible experience that is equivalent to completion of a United States baccalaureate or higher degree in the specialty occupation and have recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions directly related to the specialty.

The beneficiary has worked for over 24 years as an artist and teacher of arts and crafts. Accordingly, it is concluded that the petitioner has shown that the beneficiary qualifies to perform the duties of the offered position.

The term "specialty occupation" is defined at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

an occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

1. A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;

2. The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;

3. The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or

4. The nature of the specific duties is so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

The duties of the offered position are listed as:

She will originate and develop various forms of design of jewelry based on her knowledge of metal-smithing, gems, minerals, beads, fossils and other materials and based on her artistic experience. She will keep up with trends in the jewelry business by reading trade publications and attending jewelry showings. She will evaluate her design ideas based on such factors as appealing appearance, design-function relationships, materials and design methods, price and material costs, market characteristics and client specifications. She will integrate her findings and concepts, sketch her designs, and present them to clients. She will modify the designs based on client needs and desires, if able to do so consistently with technical requirements of integrating forged metals with gems and other materials. She will then fabricate the jewelry based on the designs by forging metals with stakes, anvil and heat and attaching stones, fossils, minerals, quartz and stalactites to the various metals. She will redesign estate jewelry to make the pieces compatible with modern styles, without damaging or decreasing the value of the metal or stones.

Counsel has submitted documents from professors at the University of Miami School of Art and at Cabrillo College, as well as the Director of Trade programs at an organization named the Jewelers of America, Inc. to show that a jewelry designer must apply highly specialized knowledge in the fields of metallurgy, gemology and design. Counsel indicates that these experts agree that the employer designs and fabricates unique and valuable custom jewelry which is the most technically and artistically sophisticated jewelry available in the jewelry industry. Three opinions are not sufficient to demonstrate an industry standard.

The petitioner has failed to establish that any of the four factors enumerated above are present in this proceeding. The petitioner has not shown that it has, in the past, required the services of individuals with baccalaureate or higher degrees in a specialized area for the offered position. In addition, the petitioner has not shown that similar firms require the services of such individuals in parallel positions.

The Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook, 2000-2001 edition, at pages 247-248 finds no requirement of a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specialized area for employment in most areas of design. Some designers hold baccalaureate degrees in design or in a liberal arts field while others hold two-year and three-year degrees from schools of design. In addition, talent and a good portfolio appear as important as a specific academic background. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has not demonstrated that the offered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of the regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act. 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
