FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the director. A subsequent motion was filed and the director affirmed his previous decision. The matter is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be sustained.

The petitioner is a non-profit organization that offers after-school programs (with an emphasis on theatrical arts) for children throughout New York City. It has twelve employees. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a drama program director. The director determined the petitioner had not established that the proffered position is a specialty occupation.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides in part for nonimmigrant classification to qualified aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation. Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to section 214(i)(2) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1184(i)(2), to qualify as an alien coming to perform services in a specialty occupation the beneficiary must hold full state licensure to practice in the occupation, if such licensure is required to practice in the occupation. In addition, the beneficiary must have completed the degree required for the occupation, or have experience in the specialty equivalent to the completion of such degree and recognition of expertise in the specialty through progressively responsible positions relating to the specialty.

The term "specialty occupation" is defined at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

an occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in fields of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

1. A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
2. The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;
3. The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
4. The nature of the specific duties is so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

In the initial I-129 petition, the petitioner described the duties of the offered position as follows:

. . . she will be charged with direction and management of comprehensive drama programs taking place at two community centers. She will further directly supervise ten teaching artists to ensure the success of programs, feasibility of schedules, and availability of physical location where the classes will take place. She will play a key role in designing curriculums in the theatrical/dramatic arts to meet the goals of the Organization and provide optimum opportunities to students, focusing on the literary needs of the children. In addition, she will provide input in the selection of new teaching artists should such situation arise; periodically oversee the teaching performance of the individuals under her direction; and provide advice with respect to the scripts and monologues utilized by teachers in their dramatic performances. Lastly she will assist in the advancement of the Organization's "Afterschool Matters" journal.

The record contains a letter dated November 14, 2001, from an industry expert, who states, in part, as follows:

It has become increasingly expected that a Drama Program Director of an after school program have a bachelor's degree from a college or university drama department or related major such as communications or educational theatre. Universities all across the country have developed such programs and thus the expectation has only increased.

The proffered position is similar to that of an instructional coordinator. A review of the Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook at page 187 finds that the minimum educational requirement for instructional coordinators is a bachelor's degree, usually in education. Here, the petitioner is requiring a bachelor's degree in speech and theater. The petitioner's requirement for a degree in this specific specialty is reasonable, given the complex proposed duties, such as designing curriculums in the theatrical/dramatic arts. In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has demonstrated that the proffered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has sustained that burden. Accordingly, the appeal will be sustained and the petition will be approved.

ORDER: The appeal is sustained. The director's order is withdrawn and the petition is approved.
