Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the director and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a staffing business with 18 employees and a gross annual income of $578,250. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a test engineer for a period of three years. The director determined the petitioner had not submitted contracts or an itinerary indicating where the beneficiary would work. The director further determined that without such contracts and itinerary, the petitioner had not established that it is the beneficiary's employer, or that it had complied with the terms of the labor condition application.

On appeal, counsel submits a brief.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides in part for nonimmigrant classification to qualified aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation. Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(i)(1), defines a "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

The director denied the petition because the petitioner had not demonstrated that its client, Multi Cable, Inc., has a specialty occupation available for the beneficiary. The director further found that the petitioner had not demonstrated that it is the beneficiary's employer, or that it had complied with the conditions of the labor condition application. On appeal, counsel submits a new labor condition application showing the beneficiary's work site as Covina, California, rather than Riverside, California.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(2)(i)(F), Agents as petitioners:

A United States agent may file a petition in cases involving workers who are traditionally self-employed or workers who use agents to arrange short-term employment on their behalf with numerous employers, and in cases where a foreign employer authorizes the agent to act on its behalf. A United States agent may be: the actual employer of the beneficiary, the representative of both the employer and the beneficiary, or, a person or entity authorized by the employer to act for, in place of, the employer as its agent. A petition filed by a United States agent is subject to the following conditions;

(1) An agent performing the function of an employer must guarantee the wages and other terms and conditions of employment by contractual agreement with the beneficiary or beneficiaries of the petition. The agent/employer must also provide an itinerary of definite employment and information on any other services planned for the period of time requested.

(2) A person or company in business as an agent may file the H petition involving multiple employers as the representative of both the employers and the beneficiary or beneficiaries if the supporting documentation includes a complete itinerary of services or engagements. The itinerary shall specify the dates of each service or engagement, the names and addresses of the actual employers, and the names and addresses of the establishment, venues, or locations where the services will be performed. In questionable cases, a contract between the employers and the beneficiary or beneficiaries may be required. The burden is on the agent to explain the terms and conditions of the employment and to provide any required documentation.

(3) A foreign employer, who, through a United States agent, files a petition for an H nonimmigrant alien is responsible for complying with all of the employer sanctions provisions of section 274A of the Act and 8 C.F.R. part 274a.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(ii):

United States employer means a person, firm, corporation, contractor, or other association, or organization in the United States which:

- (1) Engages a person to work within the United States;
- (2) Has an employer-employee relationship with respect to employees under this part, as indicated by the fact that it may hire, pay, fire, supervise, or otherwise control the work of any such employee; and

(3) Has an Internal Revenue Service Tax identification number.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(2)(i)(B):

A petition which requires services to be performed or training to be received in more than one location must include an itinerary with the dates and locations of the services or training

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iv)(B), an H-1B petition involving a specialty occupation shall be accompanied by:

Copies of any written contracts between the petitioner and beneficiary, or a summary of the terms of the oral agreement under which the beneficiary will be employed, if there is no written contract.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(9)(i), the director shall consider all the evidence submitted and such other evidence as he or she may independently require to assist his or her adjudication. (Emphasis added.)

Further, in a Bureau memorandum entitled "Supporting Documentation for H-1B Petitions," dated November 13, 1995, it states as follows:

Requests for contracts should be made only in those cases where the officer can articulate a specific need for such documentation.

The record contains the following:

- Labor Condition Application for the location in Covina, CA, certified by the Department of Labor (DOL) on March 12, 2002;
- Labor Condition Application for the location in Riverside, CA, certified by the DOL on December 27, 2000;
- Staffing Agreement dated January 24, 2002, between the petitioner and Global Industrial Network, Inc. DBA Corrosion Engineering, for the petitioner to provide a test engineer from 02/2002 to 10/01/03;
- Staffing Agreement dated December 4, 2001, between the petitioner and Multi Cable, Inc., for the petitioner to provide a test engineer (quality control) from 01/2002 to 10/01/03; and

- Contract of Employment signed by the petitioner and the beneficiary on October 15, 2001.

The record contains a summary of the terms of employment indicating that the petitioner has hired the beneficiary and will pay the beneficiary's salary. Although the record may demonstrate that the petitioner and beneficiary share an employer-employee relationship, as with employment agencies as petitioners, the Bureau must examine the ultimate employment of the alien, and determine whether the position qualifies as a specialty occupation. Cf. Defensor v. Meissner, 201 F.3d 384 (5th Cir. 2000). The critical element is not whether the petitioner is an employer or an agent, but whether the position actually requires the theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and the attainment of a bachelor's degree in the specific specialty as the minimum for entry into the occupation as required by the Act.¹ To interpret the regulations any other way would lead to absurd results: if the Bureau was limited to reviewing a petitioner's self-imposed employment requirements, then any alien with a bachelor's degree could be brought into the United States to perform a menial, non-professional, or an otherwise non-specialty occupation, so long as the employer required all such employees to have bachelor's degrees. See id. at 388.

In this case, although counsel states that the beneficiary's proposed worksite is Corrosion Engineering located in Covina, CA, the record does not contain a comprehensive description of the beneficiary's proposed duties from an authorized representative of Corrosive Engineering where the beneficiary will ultimately perform the proposed duties. Without such description, the petitioner has not demonstrated that the proffered position meets the statutory definition of specialty occupation. For this reason, the petition may not be approved.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(B), the petitioner shall submit the following with an H-1B petition involving a specialty occupation:

1. A certification from the Secretary of Labor that the petitioner has filed a labor condition application with the Secretary,

¹ The court in Defensor v. Meissner observed that the four criteria at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A) present certain ambiguities when compared to the statutory definition, and "might also be read as merely an additional requirement that a position must meet, in addition to the statutory and regulatory definition." Supra at 387.

2. A statement that it will comply with the terms of the labor condition application for the duration of the alien's authorized period of stay,
3. Evidence that the alien qualifies to perform services in the specialty occupation

The petitioner has provided a certified labor condition application for the location of the beneficiary's proposed worksite, Covina, CA. Nevertheless, that application was certified on May 12, 2002, a date subsequent to December 14, 2000, the filing date of the visa petition. Regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(i)(B)(1) provide that before filing a petition for H-1B classification in a specialty occupation, the petitioner shall obtain a certification from the DOL that it has filed a labor condition application. Since this has not occurred, for this additional reason the petition may not be approved.

In view of the foregoing, it is concluded that the petitioner has not demonstrated that the proffered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of the regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden. Accordingly, the decision of the director will not be disturbed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
