IN RE: Petitioner:
Beneficiary:

PETITION: Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker Pursuant to Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b)

ON BEHALF OF PETITIONER:

SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Mari Johnson

for Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The service center director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed. The petition will be denied.

The petitioner is a hospital. It seeks to employ the beneficiary as a lead biller and collector, and endeavors to classify her as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

The director denied the petition because the proffered position is not a specialty occupation. On appeal, the petitioner states that the proffered position qualifies as a specialty occupation.

The issue to be discussed in this proceeding is whether the position offered to the beneficiary qualifies as a specialty occupation.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides, in part, for the classification of qualified nonimmigrant aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation.

Section 214(i)(1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1184(i)(1), defines the term "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires:

- (A) theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and
- (B) attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

The term "specialty occupation" is further defined at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

[A]n occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in field of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

- (1) A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
- (2) The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;

- (3) The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
- (4) The nature of the specific duties are so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) interprets the term “degree” in the criteria at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A) to mean not just any baccalaureate or higher degree, but one in a specific specialty that is directly related to the proffered position.

The record of proceedings before the AAO contains: (1) Form I-129 and supporting documentation; (2) the director’s request for additional evidence; (3) the petitioner’s response to the director’s request; (4) the director’s denial letter; and (5) Form I-290B. The AAO reviewed the record in its entirety before issuing its decision.

The petitioner is seeking the beneficiary’s services as a lead biller and collector. Evidence of the beneficiary’s duties was included with the I-129 petition, and in response to the director’s request for evidence. According to the evidence submitted with the I-129 petition, the beneficiary would: provide supervision and direction for the billing staff to ensure that all primary, secondary, rebilling, and late charges are submitted timely; monitor collection staff performance to ensure that the quality of follow-up and productivity is consistent with department standards; review accounts for quality assurance; review aged accounts over 180 days and give direction to staff for resolution; monitor the reasons accounts have not been paid and ensure that the collection staff initiates appropriate problem solving actions; monitor and log all denials from insurance companies; supervise and direct the activities of collectors and billers for both inpatient and outpatient claims which included follow-up and billing of all payers; monitor the performance of staff to ensure that productivity, quality, budgetary and customer satisfaction goals are met; maintain first-line responsibility for staff development as necessary to achieve Patient Financial Services (PFS) goals and performance standards; ensure that collection follow-up is initiated on a timely basis and that follow up is maintained at appropriate time frames until accounts are paid correctly; perform all job functions in a safe manner; actively and consistently demonstrate the core values of the petitioner in all interactions with others; and perform other duties as assigned or requested. The petitioner requires a minimum of a bachelor’s degree in computer science or a related field for entry into the proffered position.

In response to the director’s request for evidence, the petitioner substantially changed the duties of the proffered position by adding computer programming/reprogramming responsibilities that were not included in the initial petition. The purpose of the request for evidence is to elicit further information that clarifies whether eligibility for the benefit sought has been established. 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8). When responding to a request for evidence, a petitioner cannot offer a new position to the beneficiary, or materially change a position’s title or its associated job responsibilities. The petitioner must establish that the position that was offered to the beneficiary at the time the I-129 petition was filed is a specialty occupation. See Matter of Michelin Tire Corp., 17 I&N Dec. 248, 249 (Reg. Comm. 1978). If significant changes are made to the initial request for approval, the petitioner must file a new petition rather than seek approval of a petition that is not supported by the facts in the record. The duties submitted in response to the director's request for evidence, therefore, will not be considered.

Upon review of the record, the petitioner has failed to establish that a baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the offered position, or that a degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations. Factors often considered by CIS when determining these criteria include: whether the Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook (Handbook) reports that the industry requires a degree; whether an industry professional association has made a degree a minimum entry requirement; and whether letters or affidavits from firms or individuals in the industry attest that such firms "routinely employ and recruit only degreed individuals." See Shanti, Inc. v. Reno, 36 F. Supp. 2d 1151, 1165 (D. Min. 1999) (quoting Hird/Baker Corp. v. Slattery, 764 F. Supp. 872, 1102 (S.D.N.Y. 1991).

The AAO routinely consults the Handbook for information about the duties and educational requirements of particular occupations. The duties of the proffered position are essentially those provided by supervisory bill and accounts collectors. The Handbook notes that a high school diploma is the minimum requirement for entry into the proffered position, although bill and account collectors generally receive training in telephone techniques, negotiation skills, and the laws governing the collection of debt. A baccalaureate or higher degree in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, is not, therefore, the minimum requirement for entry into the proffered position. The petitioner has failed to establish the first criterion of 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A).

The petitioner has also failed to establish that a degree requirement in a specific specialty is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations, or that it normally requires a degree for the position, and offers no evidence in this regard. 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) and (3).

Finally, the duties of the proffered position are not so complex or unique that they can only be performed by an individual with a degree in a specific specialty. Nor are they so specialized or complex that they are normally associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specific specialty. 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) and (4). The duties are routine in the industry for supervisory bill and account collectors.

The petitioner has failed to establish that any of the four factors enumerated above are present in this proceeding. It is, therefore, concluded that the petitioner has not demonstrated that the offered position is a specialty occupation within the meaning of the regulations.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden and the appeal shall accordingly be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition is denied.
