for Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The service center director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed. The petition will be denied.

The petitioner is a distributor of Karaoke equipment who seeks to employ the beneficiary as a business office manager. The petitioner endeavors to classify the beneficiary as a nonimmigrant worker in a specialty occupation pursuant to section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b).

The director denied the petition on the basis that the proffered position was not a specialty occupation. On appeal, counsel submits a brief stating that the proffered position qualifies as specialty occupation.

The issue to be discussed in this proceeding is whether the position offered to the beneficiary qualifies as a specialty occupation.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(H)(i)(b), provides, in part, for the classification of qualified nonimmigrant aliens who are coming temporarily to the United States to perform services in a specialty occupation.

Section 214(i)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(i)(1), defines the term "specialty occupation" as an occupation that requires:

- (A) theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge, and
- (B) attainment of a bachelor's or higher degree in the specific specialty (or its equivalent) as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

The term "specialty occupation" is further defined at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(ii) as:

[A]n occupation which requires theoretical and practical application of a body of highly specialized knowledge in field of human endeavor including, but not limited to, architecture, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences, social sciences, medicine and health, education, business specialties, accounting, law, theology, and the arts, and which requires the attainment of a bachelor's degree or higher in a specific specialty, or its equivalent, as a minimum for entry into the occupation in the United States.

Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A), to qualify as a specialty occupation, the position must meet one of the following criteria:

- (1) A baccalaureate or higher degree or its equivalent is normally the minimum requirement for entry into the particular position;
- (2) The degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations or, in the alternative, an employer may show that its particular position is so complex or unique that it can be performed only by an individual with a degree;

- (3) The employer normally requires a degree or its equivalent for the position; or
- (4) The nature of the specific duties are so specialized and complex that knowledge required to perform the duties is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree.

Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) interprets the term “degree” in the criteria at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A) to mean not just any baccalaureate or higher degree, but one in a specific specialty that is directly related to the proffered position.

The record of proceeding before the AAO contains: (1) Form I-129 and supporting documentation; (2) the director’s request for additional evidence; (3) the petitioner’s response to the director’s request; (4) the director’s denial letter; and (5) the Form I-290B with counsel’s brief. The AAO reviewed the record in its entirety before issuing its decision.

The petitioner is seeking the beneficiary’s services as a business office manager. Evidence of the beneficiary’s duties includes the I-129 petition with attachment, and the petitioner’s response to the director’s request for evidence. According to this evidence the beneficiary would: develop a long term strategy that would strengthen the petitioner’s position among the region’s leading distributors of sing along equipment and musical products, with a specialty on rare pieces of Philippine musicology; spearhead the regular coordinative meetings of the management committee, composed of the company owner/CEO, sales and marketing manager, information technology administrator/systems analyst, stocking/warehouse manager, and chief financial officer; manage the overall operations of the business office in accordance with established systems and procedures; monitor, review, and coordinate existing systems, policies, and procedures, and recommend improvements or modifications; conduct applicant interviews and recommend the final hiring of employees; manage manpower resources and personnel development; evaluate performance of employees on a regular basis and, if necessary, recalibrate appraisal norms to suit the objective promotions of employees and increase their level of satisfaction; analyze sales records and reports and provide the sales team with guidance and creative insights towards achieving higher goals; review the billing and collection trends and implement any improved guidelines to enhance the billing system and collection results; participate in the monitoring and setting up of control over the use of company funds and resources to ensure cost effectiveness and efficiency; oversee, lead, and endorse the efficacy or feasibility of any pilot activities concerning modern techniques/technology, processes/procedures and staffing delineations; represent the company in any administrative or personnel related meetings or conferences; ensure the validity of regulative licenses or permits and initiate the renewal or application processes as necessary; and perform such other functions as may be delegated by the CEO. The petitioner requires a minimum of a bachelor’s degree in the humanities or sciences for entry into the offered position.

The AAO routinely consults the Department of Labor’s Occupational Outlook Handbook (Handbook) for information about the duties and educational requirements of particular occupations. The duties of the proffered position are varied, but essentially those noted for top executives/general and operations managers. The Handbook notes that the formal education and experience of top executives varies as widely as the nature of their responsibilities. Many top executives have a bachelor’s or higher degree in business administration or liberal arts. Other executive positions, however, are filled by promoting experienced, lower level managers.

Thus, it is possible to obtain a position as a general or operations manager without a college degree by promotion from within the organization based upon performance alone. It is apparent from the Handbook that a baccalaureate or higher degree, in a specific specialty, is not the minimum requirement for entry into the offered position. The petitioner has failed to establish the first criterion of 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A).

The petitioner does not assert that a degree requirement is common to the industry in parallel positions among similar organizations, or that it normally requires a degree in a specific specialty for the proffered position, and offers no evidence in this regard. 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) and (3).

Finally, the petitioner has not established that the duties of the offered position are so complex or unique that they can only be performed by an individual with a degree in a specific specialty, or that the duties are so specialized or complex that knowledge required to perform them is usually associated with the attainment of a baccalaureate or higher degree in a specific specialty. 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A)(2) and (4). The duties are general managerial duties routinely performed by general and operations managers/top executives in the industry.

The petitioner has failed to establish that the offered position meets any of the criteria listed at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(h)(4)(iii)(A). Accordingly, the AAO shall not disturb the director's denial of the petition.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden and the appeal shall accordingly be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition is denied.
