FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center, who certified the decision to the Associate Commissioner for Examinations for review. The decision of the director will be affirmed.

The petitioner is a ship service company. It desires to employ the beneficiaries as pipe fitters for a period of nine months. The Department of Labor determined that a temporary certification by the Secretary of Labor could not be made. The director determined that a temporary need for the beneficiaries' services had not been established.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(ii), defines an H-2B temporary worker as:

an alien...having a residence in a foreign country which he has no intention of abandoning, who is coming temporarily to the United States to perform other temporary service or labor if unemployed persons capable of performing such service or labor cannot be found in this country, but this clause shall not apply to graduates of medical schools coming to the United States to perform services as members of the medical profession....

Matter of Artee Corp., 18 I&N Dec. 366 (Comm. 1982), as codified in current regulations at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii), specified that the test for determining whether an alien is coming "temporarily" to the United States to "perform temporary services or labor" is whether the need of the petitioner for the duties to be performed is temporary. It is the nature of the need, not the nature of the duties, that is controlling. See 55 Fed. Reg. 2616 (1990).

As a general rule, the period of the petitioner's need must be a year or less, although there may be extraordinary circumstances where the temporary services or labor might last longer than one year. The petitioner's need for the services or labor must be a one-time occurrence, a seasonal need, a peakload need, or an intermittent need. 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii)(B).

The Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker (Form I-129) indicates that the dates of intended employment for the beneficiaries are from August 1, 2000 until April 30, 2001. The petition also indicates that the employment is seasonal.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii)(B)(2) states that for the nature of the petitioner's need to be a seasonal need, the petitioner must establish that the services or labor is traditionally tied to a season of the year by an event or pattern and is of a recurring nature. The petitioner shall specify the period(s) of time during each year in which it does not need the services or labor. The employment is not seasonal if the period during which the services or labor is not needed is unpredictable or subject to change or is considered a vacation period for the petitioner's permanent employees.

The petitioner explains that necessary repairs and maintenance are scheduled during the low season of August to April when the cruise lines can afford to place the ships in drydock. The petitioner states that the need for workers from August to April will be recurring in nature each low season.

The petitioner's stated need for pipe fitters for nine months out of the year cannot be considered a seasonal need. The petitioner has not established that its need for the services of pipe fitters is predictable and traditionally tied to a season of the year by an event or pattern. Further, the maintenance and repair of ships, which is the nature of the petitioner's business, will always exist. The petitioner has not shown that its need for the beneficiaries' services is a temporary need.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. Here, the petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The decision of the director is affirmed. The petition is denied.
