FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center, who certified the decision to the Associate Commissioner for Examinations for review. The decision of the director will be affirmed.

The petitioner desires to employ the beneficiary as a home health attendant for one year. The Department of Labor determined that a temporary certification by the Secretary of Labor could not be made. The director determined that the evidence submitted did not establish that the petitioner's need for the beneficiary's services is temporary.

Section 101(a)(15)(H)(ii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(15)(H)(ii), defines an H-2B temporary worker as:

an alien...having a residence in a foreign country which he has no intention of abandoning, who is coming temporarily to the United States to perform other temporary service or labor if unemployed persons capable of performing such service or labor cannot be found in this country, but this clause shall not apply to graduates of medical schools coming to the United States to perform services as members of the medical profession....

Matter of Artee Corp., 18 I&N Dec. 366 (Comm. 1982), codified in current regulations at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii), specified that the test for determining whether an alien is coming "temporarily" to the United States to "perform temporary services or labor" is whether the need of the petitioner for the duties to be performed is temporary. It is the nature of the need, not the nature of the duties, that is controlling. See 55 Fed. Reg. 2616 (1990).

As a general rule, the period of the petitioner's need must be a year or less, although there may be extraordinary circumstances where the temporary services or labor might last longer than one year. The petitioner's need for the services or labor must be a one-time occurrence, a seasonal need, a peakload need, or an intermittent need. 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii)(B).

The petition indicates that the employment is a one-time occurrence and the temporary need is unpredictable.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 214.2(h)(6)(ii)(B)(1) states that for the nature of the petitioner's need to be a one-time occurrence, the petitioner must establish that it will not need workers to perform the services or labor in the future, or that it has an employment situation that is otherwise permanent, but a temporary event of short duration has created the need for a temporary worker.

The nontechnical description of the job on the Application for Alien Employment Certification (Form ETA 750) reads:

Cares for elderly and convalescent person in employer's home by performing any combination of following tasks: Changes linens, washes and irons patient's laundry, and cleans patient's quarters. Purchases, prepares and serves food for patient and other members of family, following special prescribed diets. Assists patient into and out of bed, automobile or wheelchair, to lavatory, and up or down the stairs. Assists patient to dress, bathe and groom self. Administers prescribed oral medications under written direction of physician. Accompanies ambulatory patients outside home. Entertains patient.

The duties have been shown to be ongoing, and it is clear that the petitioner has a permanent need for a worker in this position. The services to be rendered cannot be classified as duties that will not need to be performed in the future especially when the beneficiary's physician explains in his letter dated December 3, 2001 that the beneficiary requires continuous care. Consequently, the petitioner has not shown that the need for the beneficiary's services is a one-time occurrence and for only a temporary period.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. Here, the petitioner has not met that burden.

ORDER: The decision of the director is affirmed. The petition is denied.
