Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner claims to be a branch office of [REDACTED] located in Pakistan. The petitioner is engaged in the import, export, distribution and sales of animal health products. The petitioner seeks to employ the beneficiary temporarily in the United States in a managerial or executive capacity, namely as its manager in charge of transportation and import. The director determined that the petitioner had not established a qualifying relationship between the U.S. entity and the foreign entity, that the petitioner failed to establish that the beneficiary possessed the requisite one continuous year of qualifying work experience with the three-year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition, and that the evidence submitted by the petitioner did not convincingly show that the beneficiary's position was to be primarily managerial or executive in nature. Consequently, the director denied the petition.

On appeal, the petitioner indicated that he would submit a brief or evidence to the AAO within 30 days. The notice of appeal is dated April 27, 2002. To date, the AAO has received nothing further.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 103.3(a)(1)(v) states in part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

As the petitioner has failed to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal, the appeal will be summarily dismissed.

In visa petition proceedings, the burden of proving eligibility for the benefit sought rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
