DISCUSSION: The nonimmigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

According to the documentary evidence contained in the record, the petitioner was incorporated in 2001 and claims to be in an investment and retail sales business. The petitioner claims to be a subsidiary of Goyal Industries, located in India. The petitioner seeks to extend its authority to employ the beneficiary in the United States as its president. The director determined that the record was not persuasive in demonstrating that the beneficiary will perform primarily executive duties while employed by the U.S. entity. The director stated that it was unrealistic for a corporation to employ half of its workforce in a mostly managerial or executive function.

On appeal, counsel indicated that she would submit a brief or evidence to the AAO within 30 days. The notice of appeal is dated January 31, 2003. To date, the AAO has not received any additional evidence. Therefore, the record is considered complete.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. 103.3(a)(1)(v) states in part:

Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

Counsel simply states in the Notice of Appeal "the denial notice erroneously relies solely on the staffing levels of the company to deny the petition, " and ". . . the denial fails to consider actual duties and responsibilities of the position . . ." As the petitioner has failed to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal, the appeal will be summarily dismissed.

In visa petition proceedings, the burden of proving eligibility for the benefit sought rests solely with the petitioner. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1361. The petitioner has not sustained that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
