FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER, EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Acting District Director, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The record reflects that the applicant was born on April 12, 1976, in Jamaica. The applicant's father, [REDACTED] was born in Jamaica in August 1952 and became a naturalized U.S. citizen in April 1984. The applicant's mother, [REDACTED] was born in Jamaica in April 1956 and never became a United States citizen. The applicant's parents never married each other. The applicant was recognized by his father in July 1983. The applicant was lawfully admitted for permanent residence on February 15, 1985. The applicant seeks a certificate of citizenship under § 321 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1432.

The acting district director determined the record failed to establish that the applicant met the requirements in that he failed to establish that there had been a legal separation of his parents as held in Matter of H--, 3 I&N Dec. 742 (BIA 1949). The acting district director then denied the application accordingly.

Section 321 of the Act was repealed by the Child Citizenship Act of 2000 (CCA), P.L. 106-395. The CCA provides benefits only to those persons who had not yet reached their 18th birthday as of February 27, 2000. The applicant became 18 years old in April 1994. Therefore, his application will be reviewed in accordance with the provisions of former § 321 of the Act.

Former § 321(a) of the Act provided that a child born outside of the United States of alien parents, or of an alien parent and a citizen parent who has subsequently lost citizenship of the United States, becomes a citizen of the United States upon fulfillment of the following conditions:

- (1) The naturalization of both parents; or
- (2) The naturalization of the surviving parent if one of the parents is deceased; or
- (3) The naturalization of the parent having legal custody of the child when there has been a legal separation of the parents or the naturalization of the mother if the child was born out of wedlock and the paternity of the child has not been established by legitimation; and if-
- (4) Such naturalization takes place while said child is under the age of 18 years; and
- (5) Such child is residing in the United States pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence at the time of the naturalization of the parent last naturalized under clause (1) of this subsection, or the parent naturalized under (2) or (3) of this subsection, or thereafter begins to reside permanently in the United States while under the age of 18 years.

In Matter of Fuentes, 21 I&N Dec. 893 (BIA 1997), the Board stated the following: "Through subsequent discussions, [the interested agencies] have agreed on what we believe to be a more judicious interpretation of § 321(a). We now hold that, as long as all the conditions specified in § 321(a) are satisfied before the minor's 18th birthday, the order in which they occur is irrelevant."

The record establishes that (1) the applicant's father became a naturalized U.S. citizen prior to his 18th birthday, (2) the applicant was acknowledged by his father shortly after the applicant's birth, (3) the applicant became the beneficiary of an approved visa petition filed by his father, and (4) the applicant was residing in the United States in his father's legal custody as a lawful permanent resident following his father's naturalization.

However, in order for the applicant to receive the benefits of § 321 of the Act, there must have been a legal separation of the parents. Matter of H--, 3 I&N Dec. 742 (C.O. 1949), held that the term "legal separation" means either a limited or absolute divorce obtained through judicial proceedings, and where the actual parents of the child were never lawfully married, there could be no "legal separation," of such parents. Therefore, the applicant's father was not legally separated from the applicant's mother when his father naturalized. If the parents were never lawfully married, there can be no legal separation, and as such, an award of custody to a naturalized parent under such circumstances does not result in derivation even though other requisite conditions are satisfied. See INTERP 320.1(a)(6).

There is no provision under the law by which the applicant could have automatically acquired U.S. citizenship through his father's naturalization. Therefore, the appeal will be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
