Any motion must be filed with the office that originally decided your case along with a fee of $110 as required under 8 C.F.R. 103.7.

FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the District Director, New York, New York, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant was born on August 21, 1982, in Haiti. The applicant's father, [REDACTED] was born in Haiti in August 1946 and never had a claim to U.S. citizenship. The applicant's mother, Micheline Dural, was born in Haiti in February 1950 and became a naturalized U.S. citizen on June 14, 2000. The applicant's parents married each other on July 23, 1983. The applicant was lawfully admitted for permanent residence on June 22 1990. The applicant is seeking a certificate of citizenship under section 320 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1431.

The district director reviewed the record and concluded that the applicant was over the age of 18 and ineligible for the benefit sought.

On appeal, the applicant states she had satisfied the provisions by the time she reached her 18th birthday on August 21, 2000. She refers to the receipt for payment of the applications fee dated August 17, 2000, indicating the application was filed prior to her 18th birthday.

Sections 320 and 322 of the Act were amended by the Child Citizenship Act of 2000 (CCA), and took effect on February 27, 2001. The CCA benefits all persons who have not yet reached their 18th birthdays as of February 27, 2001. The applicant was 18 years, 6 months and 6 days old on February 27, 2001. Therefore, she is not eligible for the benefits of the CCA.

Former section 320 of the Act prior to its amendment provided that:

(a) A child born outside of the United States, one of whose parents at the time of the child's birth was an alien and the other of whose parents then was and never thereafter ceased to be a citizen of the United States, shall, if such parent is naturalized, become a citizen of the United States, when

(1) such naturalization takes place while such child is under the age of 18 years; and

(2) such child is residing in the United States pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence at the time of naturalization or thereafter and begins to reside permanently in the United States while under the age of 18 years.

(b) Subsection (a) of this section shall apply to an adopted child only if the child is residing in the United States at the time of naturalization of such adoptive parent, in the custody of his adoptive parents, pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence.

The applicant does not qualify for consideration under former section 320 of the Act because one of her parent's was not a U.S. citizen at the time of her birth.

Section 322 of the Act in effect prior to February 27, 2001, provides, in part, that:

(a) A parent who is a citizen of the United States may apply to the Attorney General for a certificate of citizenship on behalf of a child born outside the United States. The Attorney General shall issue such a certificate of citizenship upon proof to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that the following conditions have been fulfilled:

(1) At least one parent is a citizen of the United States, whether by birth or naturalization.

(2) The child is physically present in the United States pursuant to a lawful admission.

(3) The child is under the age of 18 years and in the legal custody of the citizen parent.

(4) If the citizen parent is an adoptive parent of the child, the child was adopted by the citizen parent before the child reached the age of 16 years and the child meets the requirements for being a child under subparagraph (E) or (F) of section 101(b)(1).

(5) If the citizen parent has not been physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than 5 years, at least 2 of which were after attaining the age of 14 years-

(A) The child is residing permanently in the United States with the citizen parent, pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence, or

(B) A citizen parent of the citizen parent has been physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a period or periods totaling not less than 5 years, at least 2 of which were after attaining the age of 14 years.

(b) Upon approval of the application (which may be filed abroad) and, except as provided in the last sentence of section 337(a), upon taking and subscribing before an officer of the Service within the United States to the oath of allegiance required by this Act of an applicant for naturalization, the child shall become a citizen of the United States and shall be furnished by the Attorney General with a certificate of citizenship.

In 1994, section 322 of the Act was amended to provide for expedited naturalization of certain children born outside the United States. See Immigration and Technical Corrections Act of 1994 (INTCA), section 102, Pub.L. 103-416, 108 Stat. 4307. Unlike children who acquire citizenship through a citizen parent as of a date of their birth, children who are expeditiously naturalized under section 322 of the Act based on their parent's/grandparent's residence, become citizens upon approval of the application and subscribing to the oath of allegiance (if applicable).

8 C.F.R. § 322.2(a) provides that to be eligible for naturalization under section 322 of the Act, a child on whose behalf an application for naturalization has been filed by a parent who is, at the time of filing, a citizen of the United States, must:

- (1) Be unmarried and under 18 years of age, both at the time of application and at the time of admission to citizenship;
- (2) Reside permanently in the United States, in the physical and legal custody of the applying citizen parent, pursuant to a lawful admission;
- (3) Comply with other requirements for naturalization as provided in the Act....

The applicant is not eligible under former section 322 of the Act because she must have been under the age of 18 years both at the time of application and at the time of admission to citizenship.

8 C.F.R. § 341.2(c) provides that the burden of proof shall be on the claimant to establish the claimed citizenship by a preponderance of the evidence. Therefore, the appeal will be dismissed.

This decision is without prejudice to the applicant's seeking U.S. citizenship through normal naturalization procedures by filing an Application for Naturalization on Form N-400 with a Service office having jurisdiction over his place of residence.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
