FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Acting District Director, Miami, Florida, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant was born on January 23, 1983, in Jamaica. The applicant's father, [REDACTED] was born in Jamaica in November 1952 and became a naturalized U.S. citizen on August 11, 1996. The applicant's mother, [REDACTED] was born in Jamaica and never had a claim to United States citizenship. The applicant's parents never married each other. The applicant was lawfully admitted for permanent residence on November 8, 1993. The applicant is seeking a certificate of citizenship under section 320 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1431.

The district director reviewed the record and concluded that the applicant was over the age of 18 and ineligible for the benefit sought.

On appeal, the applicant states that the application was filed in December 2000 prior to her 18th birthday. She states that she grew up with her grandmother and did not correspond with her mother.

Sections 320 and 322 of the Act were amended by the Child Citizenship Act of 2000 (CCA), and took effect on February 27, 2001. The CCA benefits all persons who have not yet reached their 18th birthday as of February 27, 2001. The applicant was 18 years and 1 month old on February 27, 2001. Therefore, she is not eligible for the benefits of the CCA.

Stepchildren and children born out of wedlock who have not been legitimated are not included in the definition of the term "child" as used in Title III. Therefore, unless such children are adopted or legitimated, they will not be eligible for benefits under the CCA. The "Legitimation Act of Jamaica" eliminated the distinction between legitimate and illegitimate children. It was enacted on October 19, 1976.

Former section 320 of the Act prior to its amendment provided that:

(a) A child born outside of the United States, one of whose parents at the time of the child's birth was an alien and the other of whose parents then was and never thereafter ceased to be a citizen of the United States, shall, if such parent is naturalized, become a citizen of the United States, when

(1) such naturalization takes place while such child is under the age of 18 years; and

(2) such child is residing in the United States pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence at the time of naturalization or thereafter and begins to reside permanently in the United States while under the age of 18 years.

(b) Subsection (a) of this section shall apply to an adopted child only if the child is residing in the United States at the time of naturalization of such adoptive parent, in the custody of his adoptive parents, pursuant to a lawful admission for permanent residence.

The applicant does not qualify for consideration under former section 320 of the Act because neither of her parents was a U.S. citizen at the time of her birth.

8 C.F.R. § 341.2(c) provides that the burden of proof shall be on the claimant to establish the claimed citizenship by a preponderance of the evidence. The applicant has failed to meet that burden. Therefore, the appeal will be dismissed.

This decision is without prejudice to the applicant's seeking U.S. citizenship through normal naturalization procedures by filing an Application for Naturalization on Form N-400 with a Service office having jurisdiction over her place of residence.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
