DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the District Director, Houston, Texas, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The record reflects that the applicant was born on February 18, 1952, in Tanzania. Neither of the applicant's parents are United States citizens. The record reflects that the applicant was admitted into the United States as a lawful permanent resident on June 24, 1971. She presently seeks a certificate of citizenship pursuant to section 301(a)(7) of the former Immigration and Nationality Act (the former Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a)(7).

The director found the applicant had failed to establish that either of her parents were U.S. citizens, as required by section 301 of the former Act. The application was denied accordingly.

On appeal, the applicant states that her parents were not born in the United States and that she is filing the present application by herself.

8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(v) states in pertinent part:

(v) Summary dismissal. An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

The AAO finds that the applicant failed to identify any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in her appeal. The appeal will therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.¹
