Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The voluntary departure bond in this matter was declared breached by the District Director, Washington, D.C., and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The record indicates that on October 4, 1999, the obligor posted a $500.00 bond conditioned for his voluntary departure. An Order of the Immigration Judge (IJ) dated October 4, 1999, was issued granting the alien voluntary departure in lieu of removal on or before December 3, 1999. The bonded alien appealed the IJ's decision to the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). On April 2, 2002, the BIA affirmed the IJ's decision and granted the alien voluntary departure within 30 days from the date of the order. The district director declared the bond breached on January 10, 2003.

On appeal, the bonded alien states that his voluntary departure was automatically extended by his timely appeal to the BIA, and that he was granted TPS/ABC on or about March 9, 2002. He states his appeal to the BIA did not fail until April 2, 2002; therefore he has not breached his bond.

There is no evidence in record and the alien has provided no documentation that he has been granted Temporary Protected Status. The alien submitted a copy of an employment authorization document issued pursuant to a pending asylum application.

8 C.F.R. § 240.26(c)(3) provides that in order for the voluntary departure bond to be cancelled, the alien must provide proof of departure to the district director.

No satisfactory evidence has been introduced into the record to establish the alien made a timely departure. The service of a notice to surrender or the presence of a certified mail receipt is not required in voluntary departure bond proceedings.

Voluntary departure bonds are exacted to insure that aliens will depart when required in lieu of removal. Such bonds are necessary in order for ICE to function in an orderly manner. After a careful review of the record, it is concluded that the alien failed to depart by the stipulated time, the conditions of the bond have been substantially violated, and the collateral has been forfeited. The decision of the district director will not be disturbed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
