IN RE: Applicant: [REDACTED]

APPLICATION: Application for Refugee Travel Document Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 223.2(b)(2)

IN BEHALF OF PETITIONER: SELF-REPRESENTED

PUBLIC COPY

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

If you believe the law was inappropriately applied or the analysis used in reaching the decision was inconsistent with the information provided or with precedent decisions, you may file a motion to reconsider. Such a motion must state the reasons for reconsideration and be supported by any pertinent precedent decisions. Any motion to reconsider must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reconsider, as required under 8 C.F.R. § 103.5(a)(1)(i).

If you have new or additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reopen. Such a motion must state the new facts to be proved at the reopened proceeding and be supported by affidavits or other documentary evidence. Any motion to reopen must be filed within 30 days of the decision that the motion seeks to reopen, except that failure to file before this period expires may be excused in the discretion of the Service where it is demonstrated that the delay was reasonable and beyond the control of the applicant or petitioner. Id.

Any motion must be filed with the office that originally decided your case along with a fee of $110 as required under 8 C.F.R. § 103.7.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Nebraska Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant, a citizen of Vietnam, seeks to obtain a refugee travel document under 8 C.F.R. § 223.2(b)(2)(i). The record indicates that the applicant was paroled into the United States as a Public Interest Parolee (PIP). The director denied the application for a refugee travel document after determining that the applicant was not a refugee and, therefore, did not qualify for the issuance of a refugee travel document.

On appeal, the applicant states that she left Vietnam in May of 1993, and that she misses her hometown and relatives. The applicant further states that she would like to return to Vietnam to introduce her U.S. born daughter to her family and to attend her brother's wedding.

The record contains a letter, dated May 20, 1993, from the District Director, Bangkok, Thailand, which states, in pertinent part, that:

The District Director of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service in Bangkok, Thailand, has granted parole in the public interest for an indefinite period into the United States for the above-named alien [the applicant] under Section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

The above named alien [the applicant] was considered for the United States Family Reunification Program and found qualified. Public Interest Parole (PIP) was authorized as per Attorney General's instructions of August 4, 1988.

Regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 223.2(b) state, in pertinent part that:

Eligibility. (2) Refugee travel document. (i) General. Except as otherwise provided in this section, an application may be approved if filed by a person who is in the United States at the time of application, and either holds valid refugee status under section 207 of the Act, valid asylee status under section 208 of the Act, or is a permanent resident and received such status as a direct result of his or her asylee or refugee status.

As the applicant does not hold either valid refugee status under section 207 of the act or valid asylee status under section 208 of the Act, and has not shown that she is a permanent resident and received such status as a direct result of her asylee or refugee status, this application may not be approved.

The burden of proof in these proceedings rests solely with the applicant. Section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361. The applicant has not met that burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
