DISCUSSION: The termination of temporary resident status by the Director, California Service Center, is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director initially terminated the applicant's status because the applicant had failed to furnish a medical examination form. The director then erroneously withdrew that termination. The director later terminated the applicant's status for the same reason, and also because the applicant had failed to provide sufficient evidence of residence for the 1982-88 period.

On appeal to the first termination, the applicant discussed the acquisition of his social security card, and that he left work in 1991 due to illness. He did not address the ground of termination. He failed to respond to the second termination notice.

An applicant for temporary resident status must present documents establishing proof of identity, proof of residence, and proof of financial responsibility, as well as photographs, a completed Fingerprint Card (Form FD-258), and a fully completed Medical Examination for Aliens Seeking Adjustment of Status (Form I-693). 8 C.F.R. 245a.2(d).

As stated in 8 C.F.R. 103.3(a)(3)(iv), any appeal which is filed that fails to state the reason for appeal, or is patently frivolous, will be summarily dismissed.

A review of the decision reveals the director accurately set forth a legitimate basis for termination of status. On appeal, the applicant has not presented additional evidence in support of his application. Nor has the applicant addressed the grounds stated for termination. The appeal must therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
