DISCUSSION: The application for adjustment from temporary to permanent resident status was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director denied the application because the applicant had been convicted of at least three misdemeanors.

On appeal, the applicant states his belief that the misdemeanors should no longer render him ineligible for status because they were expunged. He also requests that humanitarian considerations be factored in.

An alien who has been convicted of a felony or three or more misdemeanors in the United States is ineligible for adjustment to permanent resident status. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.3(c)(1).

"Felony" means a crime committed in the United States punishable by imprisonment for a term of more than one year, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, except when the offense is defined by the state as a misdemeanor, and the sentence actually imposed is one year or less, regardless of the term such alien actually served. Under this exception, for purposes of 8 C.F.R. Part 245a, the crime shall be treated as a misdemeanor. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.1(p).

"Misdemeanor" means a crime committed in the United States, either (1) punishable by imprisonment for a term of one year or less, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, or (2) a crime treated as a misdemeanor under 8 C.F.R. § 245a.1(p). For purposes of this definition, any crime punishable by imprisonment for a maximum term of five days or less shall not be considered a misdemeanor. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.1(o).

The record reveals the applicant was convicted of Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol on October 1, 1981, November 3, 1981 and November 17, 1983 in California. The applicant has not contested the fact of these convictions. Two of the three convictions were later set aside, upon the petitions of the applicant.

Under the statutory definition of "conviction" provided at section 101(a)(48)(A) of the Act, no effect is to be given, in immigration proceedings, to a state action which purports to expunge, dismiss, cancel, vacate, discharge, or otherwise remove a guilty plea or other record of guilt or conviction. Any subsequent action which overturns a conviction, other than on the merits of the case, is ineffective to expunge a conviction for immigration purposes. An alien remains convicted for immigration purposes notwithstanding a subsequent state action purporting to erase the original determination of guilt. Matter of Roldan, 22 I&N Dec. 512 (BIA 1999).

On appeal, the applicant demonstrates an understanding of the findings in Roldan, supra, but maintains that they should not apply to his situation because his convictions greatly predated that precedent decision and the underlying Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996. However, it is a long-standing principle that issues of present admissibility are determined under the law that exists on the date of the decision. Matter of Alarcon, 20 I&N Dec. 557 (BIA 1992). Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(c), precedent decisions are binding on all Citizenship and Immigration Services officers.

The applicant requests that consideration be given to waiving his alcohol-related convictions, in the same manner that inadmissibility may be waived if it stems from one minor marijuana possession conviction. He also asks that humanitarian considerations be factored into the decision regarding his application. However, there is simply no waiver available for ineligibility due to three or more misdemeanor convictions.

The applicant is ineligible for adjustment to permanent resident status because of his three misdemeanor convictions. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.3(c)(1).

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
