ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT: Self-represented

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. If your appeal was dismissed, you no longer have a case pending before this office, and you are not entitled to file a motion to reopen or reconsider your case.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The termination of the applicant's temporary resident status by the Director, Vermont Service Center is before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director terminated the applicant's temporary resident status because the applicant failed to file the application for adjustment of status from temporary to permanent residence within the 43-month application period.

On appeal, the applicant explains that she moved, and did not receive the notices that would have advised her to apply.

The status of an alien lawfully admitted for temporary residence under section 245A(a)(1) of the Act may be terminated at any time if the alien fails to file for adjustment of status from temporary to permanent resident on Form I-698 within forty-three months of the date he/she was granted status as a temporary resident under § 245a.1 of this part. 8 C.F.R. § 245a.2(u)(1)(iv).

The applicant was granted temporary resident status on October 21, 1988. The 43-month eligibility period for filing for adjustment expired on May 21, 1992. The applicant never filed the adjustment application. The director therefore terminated the applicant's temporary resident status.

The requirement of applying for adjustment a timely fashion was widely publicized. Notices were sent to aliens' last known addresses, explaining the requirement. Advice was available from the Immigration and Naturalization Service and voluntary organizations. The burden to file the adjustment application in a timely manner remains with the applicant. See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.3(d).

There is no waiver available, even for humanitarian reasons, of the requirements stated above. As the applicant has not overcome the grounds for termination of status, the appeal must be dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
