Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for Temporary Resident Status was denied by the Director, Detroit, Michigan District Office, and that decision is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director of the National Benefits Center stated in his Notice of Intent to Deny (NOID) that the applicant failed to submit evidence apart from his own testimony proving that he had maintained continuous residence in the United States during the requisite period, was continuously physically present in the United States from November 6, 1986 and then for the duration of the requisite period or that he was admissible as an immigrant. The director granted the applicant thirty (30) days within which to submit additional evidence in support of his application. The acting director of the Detroit District Office noted that the applicant failed to timely submit additional evidence in support of his application in response to the Service's NOID and because of this he did not overcome the reasons for the denial of his application as stated in the Service's NOID. Therefore, the director denied the application.

On appeal, the applicant submits a Form I-694 Notice of Appeal of Decision on which he writes the words, "Improper Counsel." It is noted here that the record does not indicate there is an attorney of record who currently represents or has previously represented this applicant. The applicant provided no additional evidence or explanation to overcome the reasons for denial of his application.

As stated in 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(3)(iv), any appeal which is filed that fails to state the reason for appeal, or is patently frivolous, will be summarily dismissed.

A review of the decision reveals the director accurately set forth a legitimate basis for denial of the application. On appeal, the applicant has not presented additional evidence. Nor has he addressed the grounds stated for denial. The appeal must therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
