If your appeal was dismissed, you no longer have a case pending before this office, and you are not entitled to file a motion to reopen or reconsider your case.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for permanent resident status under the Legal Immigration Family Equity (LIFE) Act was denied by the Director, Missouri Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director concluded the applicant had not established that he had applied for class membership in any of the requisite legalization class-action lawsuits prior to October 1, 2000 and, therefore, denied the application.

On appeal, the applicant submits a Notice of Appeal Form I-290B, on which he indicates that he is not submitting a separate statement or evidence in support of his appeal.

An applicant for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act must establish that before October 1, 2000, he or she filed a written claim with the Attorney General for class membership in any of the following legalization class-action lawsuits: Catholic Social Services, Inc. v. Meese, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993), League of United Latin American Citizens v. INS, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993), or Zambrano v. INS, vacated sub nom. Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Zambrano, 509 U.S. 918 (1993).

The applicant failed to submit any documentation addressing this requirement at the time the application Form I-485 was filed. Subsequently, in response to the Notice of Intent to Deny, the applicant provided documentation relating to an application he had previously filed on December 1, 1987 for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker under section 210 of the INA. According to documentation in the record of proceedings, this application was denied on January 2, 1992. In addition, the record reflects that the applicant appealed the denial of his application, and that this appeal was dismissed by the AAO on July 19, 1994. However, the applicant's having filed an application under section 210 of the INA does not constitute an application for class membership under CSS. It should also be noted that section 1104 of the LIFE Act contains no provision allowing for the reopening and reconsideration of a timely filed and previously denied application for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker under section 210 of the INA.

In his Notice of Decision, the director stated that the applicant was statutorily ineligible to adjust status under provisions of the LIFE Act because he had originally applied as a special agricultural worker under section 210 of the INA. According to 8 C.F.R. § 245a.10, however, an alien is eligible for consideration under the LIFE Act if he or she filed a written claim for class membership in one of the legalization class-action lawsuits cited in the previous paragraph, regardless of whether the alien had previously applied for temporary resident status under either sections 245A or 210 of the INA.

Given the applicant's failure to submit documentation indicating his having filed a timely written claim for class membership, he is ineligible for permanent residence under section 1104 of the LIFE Act.

ORDER: The decision is affirmed. The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
