If your appeal was dismissed, you no longer have a case pending before this office, and you are not entitled to file a motion to reopen or reconsider your case.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for permanent resident status under the Legal Immigration Family Equity (LIFE) Act was denied by the Director, Missouri Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director concluded the applicant had not established that he had applied for class membership in any of the requisite legalization class-action lawsuits prior to October 1, 2000 and, therefore, denied the application.

On appeal, the applicant reaffirms his eligibility for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act as one who has applied for class membership in the CSS/LULAC class-action lawsuit. In addition, the applicant asserts that additional documentation that would have supported his claim to eligibility is no longer in his possession as it was previously provided to an attorney who no longer resides in the U.S.

An applicant for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act must establish that before October 1, 2000, he or she filed a written claim with the Attorney General for class membership in any of the following legalization class-action lawsuits: Catholic Social Services, Inc. v. Meese, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993), League of United Latin American Citizens v. INS, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993), or Zambrano v. INS, vacated sub nom. Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Zambrano, 509 U.S. 918 (1993). See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.10.

The applicant failed to submit any documentation addressing this requirement when the application was filed. Nor has he attempted to provide any documentation regarding that point on rebuttal or on appeal. He did submit a photocopy of a notice dated November 14, 1988 from the New York office of Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) acknowledging receipt of the applicant's Form I-700 application and informing him that an interview notice would be mailed to him within 90 days. However, this photocopied interview notice has no bearing on whether or not he qualifies for class membership in any of the aforementioned legalization class-action lawsuits. Nor is there any indication in CIS files or in the record of proceedings that the applicant had ever applied for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker. As such, it appears the photocopied notice provided by the applicant was never in fact issued to the applicant by CIS.

Moreover, even if the applicant had applied for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker, section 1104 of the LIFE Act contains no provision allowing for the reopening and reconsideration of a timely filed and previously denied application for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker under section 210 of the INA.

Moreover, on his G-325A Biographic Information Form, the applicant indicated that he had resided in his native Bangladesh from March 1959 until August 1984. Pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 245a.11(b), each applicant for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act is required to demonstrate that he or she entered and commenced residing in the United States prior to January 1, 1982. Given the applicant's inability to meet this requirement, along with his failure to document having filed a written claim for class membership, the applicant is ineligible for permanent residence under section 1104 of the LIFE Act.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
