Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for permanent resident status under the Legal Immigration Family Equity (LIFE) Act was denied by the Director, National Benefits Center. It is now on appeal before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO). The appeal will be dismissed.

The director concluded that the applicant failed to establish he had applied for class membership in any of the requisite legalization class-action lawsuits prior to October 1, 2000.

On appeal the applicant asserts that he qualifies for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act and submits some business and personal materials for the record, as well as a couple of affidavits from acquaintances who attest that they have known the applicant since 1987.

An applicant for permanent resident status under section 1104 of the LIFE Act must establish that before October 1, 2000, he or she filed a written claim with the Attorney General for class membership in one of the following legalization class-action lawsuits: Catholic Social Services, Inc. v. Meese, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993) ("CSS"), League of United Latin American Citizens v. INS, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993) ("LULAC"), or Zambrano v. INS, vacated sub nom. Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Zambrano, 509 U.S. 918 (1993) ("Zambrano"). See section 1104(b) of the LIFE Act and 8 C.F.R. § 245a.10.

The regulations provide an illustrative list of documents that an applicant may submit to establish that he or she filed a written claim for class membership before October 1, 2000. Those regulations also permit the submission of "[a]ny other relevant document(s)." See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.14.

The applicant has submitted no documentary evidence that he ever filed a claim for class membership in CSS, as alleged. There is no record at Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS), successor to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, that the applicant filed any such application before October 1, 2000, as required to be considered as a timely claim for class membership in CSS. In fact, CIS has no record of any filing by the applicant until the instant LIFE application was filed on November 18, 2002. That was more than two years after the statutory deadline of October 1, 2000 to file a claim for class membership one of the legalization lawsuits.

Thus, the applicant has not established that he filed a written claim for class membership in CSS, or either of the other two legalization lawsuits, LULAC or Zambrano, before October 1, 2000, as required under section 1104(b) of the LIFE Act.

Accordingly, the applicant is ineligible for permanent resident status under section 1104 of the LIFE Act.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
