DISCUSSION: The application for permanent resident status under the Legal Immigration Family Equity (LIFE) Act was denied by the Director, Missouri Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director concluded the applicant had not established that he had applied for class membership in any of the requisite legalization class-action lawsuits prior to October 1, 2000 and, therefore, denied the application.

On appeal, the applicant reiterates his claim that he is eligible for permanent residence under the LIFE Act, and that he has submitted all available documents demonstrating such eligibility.

An applicant for permanent resident status under the LIFE Act must establish that before October 1, 2000, he or she filed a written claim with the Attorney General for class membership in any of the following legalization class-action lawsuits: Catholic Social Services, Inc. v. Meese, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993) (CSS), League of United Latin American Citizens v. INS, vacated sub nom. Reno v. Catholic Social Services, Inc., 509 U.S. 43 (1993) (LULAC), or Zambrano v. INS, vacated sub nom. Immigration and Naturalization Service v. Zambrano, 509 U.S. 918 (1993) (Zambrano). See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.10.

The regulations provide an illustrative list of documents that an applicant may submit to establish that he or she filed a written claim for class membership before October 1, 2000. Those regulations also permit the submission of "[a]ny other relevant document(s)." See 8 C.F.R. § 245a.14.

The applicant neither claimed nor documented that he applied for class membership with his LIFE Act application. Subsequently, in response to the notice of intent to deny, the applicant included a photocopy of a notice dated December 6, 2000, from the Vermont Service Center of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, or the Service (now Citizenship and Immigration Services, or CIS). However, this document is addressed to an individual with a different first name than the applicant. Furthermore, a review of relevant records reveals that this notice does not apply to the applicant, but instead relates to another completely different individual who is also a client of the current counsel of record.

The record reflects that all appropriate indices and files were checked and it was determined that the applicant had not applied for class membership in a timely manner prior to October 1, 2000. Given his failure to document that he timely filed a written claim for class membership, the applicant is ineligible for permanent residence under section 1104 of the LIFE Act.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
