Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker was denied by the Director, Western Service Center and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish the performance of at least 90 man-days of qualifying agricultural employment during the eligibility period. This decision was based on adverse information acquired by the Service (now Citizenship and Immigration Services, or CIS) relating to the applicant's claim of employment for [REDACTED] at L & J Packing Company.

On appeal, the applicant declared that he could not state the specific reasons for his appeal and requested a copy of the record of proceedings. The applicant stated that a full statement of the reason for his appeal would be forthcoming in a brief upon compliance with his request.

The record shows that CIS complied with the request and mailed a copy of the record to the applicant on August 19, 2003. However, as of the date of this decision, the applicant has failed to submit a brief, statement, or documentation addressing the basis of the director's denial. Therefore, the record shall be considered complete.

In order to be eligible for temporary resident status as a special agricultural worker, an alien must have engaged in qualifying agricultural employment for at least 90 man-days during the twelve-month period ending May 1, 1986, and must be otherwise admissible under section 210(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (Act) and not ineligible under 8 C.F.R. § 210.3(d). 8 C.F.R. § 210.3(a). An applicant has the burden of proving the above by a preponderance of the evidence. 8 C.F.R. § 210.3(b).

As stated in 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(3)(iv), any appeal which is filed that fails to state the reason for appeal, or is patently frivolous, will be summarily dismissed. The applicant has failed to address the reasons stated for denial and has not provided any additional evidence on appeal. The appeal must therefore be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. This decision constitutes a final notice of ineligibility.
