Cindy M. Gomez for
Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish that he is a national of a foreign state designated by the Attorney General and eligible for the granting of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254. The applicant is a citizen and national of Mexico and that country has not been so designated under section 244 of the Act.

The applicant states, on appeal, that he disagrees with the director's decision, and that he is eligible for temporary protected status. The applicant states that a brief or additional evidence will be submitted within 30 days from February 13, 2003. To date, no additional documentation has been submitted. Therefore, the record will be considered complete.

The applicant has failed to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in the decision, however, the record contains a letter from the applicant in which he asserts his eligibility for TPS based on his wife's purported status as a TPS registrant.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations at 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(a), provide that an applicant is eligible for temporary protected status only if such alien establishes that he or she:

Is a national, as defined in section (101) (a) (21) of the Act, of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;.....

As a citizen and national of Mexico, the applicant is ineligible for the provisions of section 244 of the Act. A marriage alone, to a TPS registrant, does not render the applicant eligible for the benefit being sought; he or she must meet all other requirements.

An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of § 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
