Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Nebraska Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish that he is a national of a foreign state designated by the Attorney General and eligible for the granting of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reflects that the applicant is a citizen and national of Guatemala. On appeal, the applicant stated that he is eligible for TPS because he is the spouse of a citizen of El Salvador who had been granted TPS. The applicant provided a copy of his marriage certificate and documentation regarding his wife's status as a recipient of TPS.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(a), provide that an applicant is eligible for temporary protected status only if such alien establishes that he or she:

Is a national of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act

The applicant asserted on appeal that he was eligible as a "dependent spouse" of a TPS recipient. However, 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2)(iv), the regulation alluded to by the applicant in support of his assertion, simply allows spouses of TPS beneficiaries to file applications after the initial registration period had closed; this regulation does not relax the requirements for eligibility for TPS. As a citizen and national of Guatemala, the applicant is ineligible for the provisions of section 244 of the Act. A marriage alone, to a TPS registrant, does not render the applicant eligible for the benefit being sought; he must meet all other requirements.

An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
