Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Texas Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office on appeal. The appeal will be rejected.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254a.

The director determined that the applicant failed to submit additional evidence, as had been requested, to establish eligibility for filing after the initial registration period. The director, therefore, denied the application due to abandonment pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(c).

On appeal, the applicant states that she previously submitted all of the documentation. She further states she will be happy to complete any additional paperwork required.

The record reflects that the applicant filed the TPS application on May 15, 2002. In a notice of intent to deny the application, the applicant was granted 30 days in which to submit: (1) photo identification; (2) evidence that she has continuously resided in the United States since December 30, 1998; (3) evidence that she has been continuously physically present in the United States since January 5, 1999; and (4) evidence to establish that she was eligible for filing after the initial registration period from January 5, 1999 to August 20, 1999. No response was received. The director denied the application due to abandonment.

On appeal, the applicant states she has previously furnished documentation to the Service. However, no evidence was furnished to establish that she met the qualification for late registration, and to overcome the findings of the director pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2).

8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(13) provides that if all requested initial evidence is not submitted by the required date, the application or petition shall be considered abandoned and, accordingly, shall be denied. 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(15) provides that a denial due to abandonment may not be appealed, but an applicant or petitioner may file a motion to reopen under 8 C.F.R. § 103.5.

The director denied the application due to abandonment, pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(c). An appeal was subsequently filed by the applicant. However, there is no appeal of the director's decision in the present case. The appeal will, therefore, be rejected. If the applicant has additional evidence for the record, such documentation should be forwarded on a motion to reopen to the office having jurisdiction over the present application (the office which rendered the initial decision).

ORDER: The appeal is rejected.
