Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a citizen of El Salvador who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish that he was eligible for late registration. The director also found that the applicant had failed to establish his qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods.

On appeal, counsel for the applicant submits a brief statement and additional documentation.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant who is a national of a foreign state is eligible for Temporary Protected Status only if such alien establishes that he or she:

- (a) Is a national, as defined in section 101(a)(21) of the Act, of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;
- (b) Has been continuously physically present in the United States since the effective date of the most recent designation of that foreign state;
- (c) Has continuously resided in the United States since such date as the Attorney General may designate;
- (d) Is admissible as an immigrant except as provided under § 244.3;
- (e) Is not ineligible under § 244.4; and
- (f)
 - (1) Registers for Temporary Protected Status during the initial registration period announced by public notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or
 - (2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:
 - (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;
 - (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;

- (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or
- (iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.
- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director, within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

The phrase continuously physically present, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means actual physical presence in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence in the United States by virtue of brief, casual, and innocent absences as defined within this section.

The phrase continuously resided, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means residing in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous residence in the United States by reason of a brief, casual and innocent absence as defined within this section or due merely to a brief temporary trip abroad required by emergency or extenuating circumstances outside the control of the alien.

Persons applying for TPS offered to El Salvadorans must demonstrate continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, and continuous physical presence in the United States since March 9, 2001. The initial registration period for El Salvadorans was from March 9, 2001, through September 9, 2002. On July 9, 2002, the Attorney General announced an extension of the TPS designation until September 9, 2003. Subsequent extensions of the TPS designation have been granted, with the latest extension valid until September 9, 2007, upon the applicant's re-registration during the requisite time period.

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period he fell within at least one of the provisions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2) above.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he meets the above requirements. Applicants shall submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his burden of proof the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

The applicant filed his initial Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, with Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) on July 31, 2003, more than ten months after the initial registration period had ended.

On August 25, 2003, the director requested the applicant to submit evidence establishing his eligibility for late registration as set forth in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). The applicant was also requested to submit evidence to establish his qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods. In response, the applicant provided documentation dated on or after November 1, 2001.

The director determined that the applicant had failed to establish that he was eligible for late registration, and had failed to establish his qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods. The director denied the application on February 4, 2004.

On appeal, counsel submits documentation indicating that the applicant had an application for adjustment of status pending from the date it was filed on March 3, 1997, to the date that it was denied due to abandonment on November 21, 2003. Counsel also submits documentation relating to the applicant's residence and physical presence in the United States.

Based on a review of the record, it is concluded that the applicant has submitted sufficient evidence to establish that he is eligible to file a late application for TPS under the provisions of 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2)(ii). Consequently, the portion of the director's decision dealing with late registration will be withdrawn.

The late registration provisions, however, do not relax the other requirements for eligibility for TPS. The documentation submitted does not include sufficient evidence to establish the applicant's qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods. The applicant claims to have lived in the United States continuously since 1985. It is reasonable to expect that he would have a variety of contemporaneous evidence to support this claim. However, the applicant's record only contains documentation indicating his presence in the United States on or before 1997, and on or after an unspecified date in 2001. Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application on these grounds will be affirmed.

It is noted that CIS received a report from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) indicating that the applicant has been charged with the following offenses:

1. On August 4, 1988, in Mineloa, New York, of Driving While Intoxicated.
2. On May 14, 1991, in New York, New York, of (a) Burglary 3rd; (b) Possession of Burglary Tools; and (c) Criminal Mischief Reckless Damage of Property.

In any future proceedings before CIS, the applicant must submit evidence of the final court dispositions of these and any other charges against him.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for Temporary Protected Status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.
