IN RE: Applicant:

APPLICATION: Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1254

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT: SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant claims to be a citizen of El Salvador who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The director denied the application because the applicant failed to establish her qualifying continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, and continuous physical presence since March 9, 2001.

On appeal, the applicant submits a brief statement and additional documentation.

It appears that the applicant may be represented; however, no Form G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance of Attorney or Representative, is contained in the record of proceeding. Therefore, the applicant is considered to be self-represented in this matter.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant who is a national of a foreign state designated by the Attorney General is eligible for Temporary Protected Status only if such alien establishes that he or she:

- (a) Is a national, as defined in section 101(a)(21) of the Act, of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;
- (b) Has been continuously physically present in the United States since the effective date of the most recent designation of that foreign state;
- (c) Has continuously resided in the United States since such date as the Attorney General may designate;
- (d) Is admissible as an immigrant except as provided under section 244.3;
- (e) Is not ineligible under 8 C.F.R. § 244.4; and
- (f) (1) Registers for TPS during the initial registration period announced by public notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or
(2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:
 - (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;

- (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;
 - (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or
 - (iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.
- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

The phrase continuously physically present, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means actual physical presence in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence in the United States by virtue of brief, casual, and innocent absences as defined within this section.

The phrase continuously resided, as defined in 8 C.F.R. § 244.1, means residing in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous residence in the United States by reason of a brief, casual and innocent absence as defined within this section or due merely to a brief temporary trip abroad required by emergency or extenuating circumstances outside the control of the alien.

Persons applying for TPS offered to El Salvadorans must demonstrate continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, and continuous physical presence in the United States since March 9, 2001. The initial registration period for El Salvadorans was from March 9, 2001, through September 9, 2002. The applicant filed her initial Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, with Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) on September 9, 2003.

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period he or she fell within at least one of the provisions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2) above.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he or she meets the above requirements. Applicants shall submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his or her burden of proof the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his or her own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

In support of her initial Form I-821, the applicant submitted:

1. A photocopy of her birth certificate, with English translation;

2. A photocopy of her marriage certificate, with English translation, showing that she married [REDACTED] in El Salvador on August 20, 1999;
3. A photocopy of an Employment Authorization Document (EAD) issued to her spouse as a TPS applicant ([REDACTED]);
4. Affidavits from acquaintances attesting to their knowledge of the applicant;
5. A photocopy of her Virginia driver's license, issued on January 18, 2003

On October 15, 2004, the director requested the applicant to submit evidence to establish her qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods. The applicant was informed that such evidence may include, but was not limited to, employment or school records, rent/mortgage payment receipts, bank or insurance documents, medical or utility bills, or other similar materials. The record reflects that the applicant failed to respond to the director's request.

The director determined that the applicant had failed to establish her eligibility for TPS and denied the application on December 10, 2004.

On appeal, the applicant states that she does not have any of the evidence requested by the director to support her application and submits two additional affidavits from acquaintances.

A review of the alien registration file relating to the applicant's spouse reflects that his TPS application was approved on June 7, 2002. Therefore, the applicant is eligible to apply for late registration as the spouse of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant. However, the applicant must still satisfy the remaining requirements for eligibility for TPS including qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite time periods.

There are discrepancies in the information provided pertaining to the applicant's claimed date of entry into the United States. At the time of filing her TPS application, the applicant stated that she had entered the United States on December 2, 2000; however, at the time of filing his TPS application on June 7, 2002, her spouse indicated that the applicant was residing in El Salvador. These discrepancies have not been explained and call into question the applicant's ability to document the requirements under the statute and regulations. Doubt cast on any aspect of the evidence as submitted may lead to a reevaluation of the reliability and sufficiency of the remaining evidence offered in support of the application. Furthermore, it is incumbent on the applicant to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence; any attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth lies, will not suffice. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582. (Comm. 1988).

In this case, the applicant has not submitted any evidence to establish her continuous residence in the United States since February 13, 2001, or her continuous physical presence in the United States since March 9, 2001. She has, therefore, failed to establish that she has met the criteria described in 8 C.F.R. §§ 244.2(b) and (c). Letters from acquaintances, by themselves, are not persuasive evidence of qualifying continuous residence and continuous physical. Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application for Temporary Protected Status for these reasons will be affirmed.

Beyond the decision of the director, the applicant has not submitted sufficient evidence to establish her nationality and identity, as required under the provisions of 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a)(1). The application must also be denied for this reason.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for Temporary Protected Status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
