IN RE:

Applicant:

[REDACTED]

APPLICATION:

Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is stated to be a citizen of Nicaragua who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed a late initial TPS application on February 14, 2005, under CIS receipt number WAC 05 137 78578. The director denied the application on May 20, 2006, because the applicant failed to establish that he was eligible for late initial registration for TPS.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant who is a national of a foreign state designated by the Attorney General is eligible for TPS only if such alien establishes that he or she:

- (a) Is a national of a state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;
- (b) Has been continuously physically present in the United States since the effective date of the most recent designation of that foreign state;
- (c) Has continuously resided in the United States since such date as the Attorney General may designate;
- (d) Is admissible as an immigrant except as provided under section 244.3;
- (e) Is not ineligible under 8 C.F.R. § 244.4; and
- (f)
  - (1) Registers for Temporary Protected Status during the initial registration period announced by public notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or
  - (2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:
    - (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;
    - (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;
    - (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or

(iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.

- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

Persons applying for TPS offered to Nicaraguans must demonstrate that they have continuously resided in the United States since December 30, 1998, and that they have been continuously physically present since January 5, 1999. On May 11, 2000, the Attorney General announced an extension of the TPS designation until July 5, 2001. Subsequent extensions of the TPS designation have been granted, with the latest extension valid until July 5, 2007, upon the applicant's re-registration during the requisite period.

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period he or she fell within at least one of the provisions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2) above.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he or she meets the above requirements. Applicants shall submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his or her burden of proof, the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his or her own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

With his TPS application, the applicant submitted a birth certificate in Spanish, without an English translation. The applicant did not submit any additional evidence with his TPS application.

On March 21, 2006, the applicant was provided the opportunity to submit evidence, within 30 days, establishing his eligibility for TPS, including eligibility for late registration as set forth in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). The director noted in his denial letter that the applicant failed to respond to the notice of intent to deny; however, the record reflects that on May 14, 2006, the applicant submitted a late response with the following evidence:-

- A Nicaraguan birth certificate (in Spanish) with an English translation;
- A reference letter from [REDACTED], stating that he rented a room to the applicant from October 16, 1998 until January 11, 2002;
- A personal reference letter from [REDACTED], stating that she has known the applicant since 1998;
- Ten money transfer receipts, issued in 2000, 2001, 2002, and 2005;
- Four automobile insurance declaration pages, showing coverage beginning in 2001, 2004, 2004, and 2006;
- A bank statement for the period January 7, 2006, through February 6, 2006;
- A Division of Driver Licenses receipt, dated February 14, 2000;
- A State of Florida marriage certificate dated January 2002;
- An undated auto repair receipt from [REDACTED];
- Three automobile insurance declaration pages;
- A Florida Power and Light Company invoice, dated December 24, 2004;

- A telephone bill, dated July 22, 2004; and
- A “Summer – 03” student identification card.

On appeal, the applicant states that he entered the United States in 1998, and that he filed his TPS application late because he was under economic hardship. The applicant does not submit any additional evidence on appeal.

The applicant has not submitted any evidence to establish that he has met any of the criteria for late registration described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application for temporary protected status will be affirmed.

Beyond the decision of the director, it is noted that although the record of proceedings contains a Nicaragua birth certificate (in Spanish), and an English translation, the certificate was not accompanied by a photo identification to establish the applicant's nationality and identity as required by 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a)(1). Furthermore, it is also noted that the applicant submitted a June 16, 2006 letter with his appeal in which he stated: “I am a Honduran National;” and “I applied to the humanitarian program ‘T.P.S.’, as a late initial registration being eligible as a Honduran national.” Doubt cast on any aspect of the applicant's proof may lead to a reevaluation of the reliability and sufficiency of the remaining evidence offered in support of the application. It is incumbent upon the applicant to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence, and attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth lies, will not suffice. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582 (BIA 1988). The applicant has failed to submit any objective evidence to explain or justify the discrepancies in his claimed nationality. In addition, the applicant has not submitted sufficient evidence to establish his continuous residence in the United States from December 28, 1998 and his continuous physical presence since January 5, 1999. Therefore, the application will also be denied for these reasons.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
