IN RE:

Applicant:

APPLICATION:

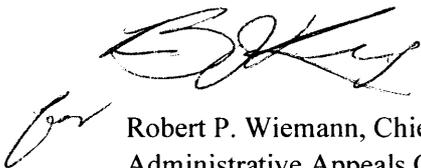

Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C., § 1254

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

SELF-REPRESENTED

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed a late initial TPS application on February 3, 2006, under CIS receipt number WAC 06 126 70173. The director denied the application on August 17, 2006, because the applicant failed to respond to a request to submit evidence to establish eligibility for late initial registration for TPS, and his continuous residence and his continuous physical presence in the United States.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant who is a national of a foreign state as designated by the Attorney General is eligible for temporary protected status only if such alien establishes that he or she:

- (a) Is a national, as defined in section 101(a)(21) of the Act, of a foreign state designated under section 244(b) of the Act;
- (b) Has been continuously physically present in the United States since the effective date of the most recent designation of that foreign state;
- (c) Has continuously resided in the United States since such date as the Attorney General may designate;
- (d) Is admissible as an immigrant except as provided under section 244.3;
- (e) Is not ineligible under 8 C.F.R. § 244.4; and
- (f)
 - (1) Registers for TPS during the initial registration period announced by public notice in the Federal Register, or
 - (2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:
 - (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;
 - (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;
 - (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or
 - (iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.

- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

Continuously physically present means actual physical presence in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence in the United States by virtue of brief, casual, and innocent absences as defined within this section.

Continuously resided means residing in the United States for the entire period specified in the regulations. An alien shall not be considered to have failed to maintain continuous residence in the United States by reason of a brief, casual, and innocent absence as defined within this section or due merely to a brief temporary trip abroad required by emergency or extenuating circumstances outside the control of the alien.

Brief, casual, and innocent absence means a departure from the United States that satisfies the following criteria:

- (1) Each such absence was of short duration and reasonably calculated to accomplish the purpose(s) for the absence;
- (2) The absence was not the result of an order of deportation, an order of voluntary departure, or an administrative grant of voluntary departure without the institution of deportation proceedings; and
- (3) The purposes for the absence from the United States or actions while outside of the United States were not contrary to law.

Persons applying for TPS offered to Hondurans must demonstrate that they have continuously resided in the United States since December 30, 1998, and that they have been continuously physically present since January 5, 1999. On May 11, 2000, the Attorney General announced an extension of the TPS designation until July 5, 2001. Subsequent extensions of the TPS designation have been granted, with the latest extension valid until July 5, 2007, upon the applicant's re-registration during the requisite period.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he or she meets the above requirements. Applicants shall submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his or her burden of proof, the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his or her own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period, he/she was either in a valid immigration status, had an application pending for relief from removal, was a parolee, or was the spouse/child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant, and he/she had filed an application for late registration within 60 days of the expiration or termination of the conditions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2).

With his TPS application, the applicant submitted a photocopy of the biographic page of his Honduran passport, which was issued in Honduras on July 3, 2005, and numerous generic receipts.

On July 13, 2006, the applicant was provided the opportunity to submit evidence establishing his eligibility for TPS, including eligibility for late initial late registration as set forth in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). In his response to the notice of intent to deny, the applicant submitted the same evidence earlier provided.

On appeal, the applicant states that he has been living in the United States since 1998, and he would like the opportunity to live and work freely to support his family. With his appeal, in an attempt to establish his continuous residence and his continuous physical presence in the United States, the applicant submits a photocopy of a Certificate of Title, issued on May 5, 2006; an untranslated letter in Spanish; and, most of the same evidence previously provided.

However, this evidence does not mitigate the applicant's failure to file his Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, within the initial registration period.

The applicant has failed to provide any evidence to establish that this application should be accepted as a late initial registration under 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application for this reason must be affirmed.

Furthermore, the applicant did not submit sufficient evidence to establish that he had continuously resided in the United States since December 30, 1998, and that he had been continuously physically present since January 5, 1999. The evidence of record consists primarily of generic receipts and is not supported by any corroborative evidence. It is reasonable to expect that the applicant would have some type of contemporaneous evidence to support these assertions; however, no such evidence has been provided. These receipts carry little evidentiary weight and will not serve to establish the applicant's eligibility.

As noted by the director, the record of proceedings reveals that the applicant was apprehended on entry by the United States Border Patrol at or near Hidalgo, Texas, on December 13, 2004. The applicant was placed in removal proceedings, and on November 3, 2005, an Immigration Judge granted the applicant voluntary departure in lieu of Removal on/or before March 3, 2006, with an alternate Order of Removal, if the applicant failed to depart the United States as required. There is no evidence in the record that the applicant departed the United States by the specified date. Therefore, the applicant could not meet the continuous residence and physical presence requirements for TPS.

It is also noted that although on his initial Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, and on his initial Form I-765, Application of Employment Authorization, the applicant indicated that he entered the United States on October 31, 1997, on appeal the applicant states that he came to the United States in 1998, and he has been living in the United States ever since his arrival. However, as noted above, the applicant was apprehended on entry at or near Hidalgo, Texas, on December 13, 2004. The applicant did not provide any evidence to overcome the inconsistency in his entry dates in the record. Doubt cast on any aspect of the applicant's proof may lead to a reevaluation of the reliability and sufficiency of the remaining evidence offered in support of the application. It is incumbent upon the applicant to resolve any inconsistencies in the record by independent objective evidence, and attempts to explain or reconcile such inconsistencies, absent competent objective evidence pointing to where the truth lies, will not suffice. Matter of Ho, 19 I&N Dec. 582 (BIA 1988). The applicant has failed to submit any objective evidence to explain or justify the discrepancies in the entry dates in the record. Therefore, the reliability of the remaining evidence offered by the applicant is suspect and it must be concluded that the applicant has failed to establish his continuous residence and continuous physical presence in the United States during the requisite period. Therefore, the application will also be denied for these reasons.

The applicant has, therefore, not met the residence and physical presence requirements described in 8 C.F.R. §§ 244.2(b) and (c). Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application for temporary protected status for these reasons must also be affirmed.

Beyond the decision of the director, it is noted that although the record of proceedings contains a photocopy of the biographic page of a Honduran passport, the applicant did not submit a birth certificate, with an English translation as required by 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(3). Therefore, the application must also be denied for this reason.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
