IN RE: Applicant: [REDACTED]

APPLICATION: Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1254

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT: Self-represented

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center. It is now on appeal before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO). The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The applicant claims to be a citizen of El Salvador who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The director denied the application on the grounds that the applicant failed to establish that he was eligible for late TPS registration, had continuously resided in the United States since February 13, 2001, and had been continuously physically present in the United States from March 9, 2001, until the date he filed his application, and that he did not submit an identity document bearing his photograph and/or fingerprints.

On appeal, the applicant asserts that he does qualify for TPS, but provides no further information or documentation in support of that claim. On the Form I-290B the applicant indicates that a brief and/or evidence would be submitted, but no such materials have been submitted either with the appeal or at a later date.

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal. See 8 C.F.R. § 103.3(a)(1)(v).

Inasmuch as the applicant has failed to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact in this proceeding, the appeal must be summarily dismissed.

As always in these proceedings, the burden of proof rests solely with the applicant. See section 291 of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1361.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
