IN RE: Applicant: [REDACTED]

APPLICATION: Application for Temporary Protected Status under Section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1254

ON BEHALF OF APPLICANT:

[REDACTED]

INSTRUCTIONS:

This is the decision of the Administrative Appeals Office in your case. All documents have been returned to the office that originally decided your case. Any further inquiry must be made to that office.

Robert P. Wiemann, Chief
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Director, California Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant claims to be a citizen of Honduras who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed her initial TPS application on May 21, 2001, under Citizenship and Immigration Services (CIS) receipt number SRC 01 244 54691. The Director, Texas Service Center, denied that application for abandonment on July 24, 2002, because the applicant failed to respond to a request for evidence to establish her continuous residence. A denial due to abandonment may not be appealed, but an applicant or petitioner may file a motion to reopen within 30 days. There is nothing in the record to indicate that the applicant filed a motion to reopen the director's decision. The applicant filed a subsequent TPS re-registration application on December 3, 2004, under CIS receipt number WAC 05 064 72654. The Director, California Service Center, denied the re-registration application on May 16, 2005, because the applicant's initial TPS application had been denied and the applicant was not eligible to apply for re-registration for TPS. On July 14, 2005, the applicant filed an appeal from the denial decision. The Director, California Service Center, rejected that appeal as untimely filed on September 1, 2005.

The applicant filed the current Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status, on February 16, 2006, and indicated that she was submitting an initial TPS application.

The director denied the re-registration application because the applicant's initial TPS application had been denied and the applicant was not eligible to apply for re-registration for TPS.

On appeal, counsel for the applicant states that the applicant was not submitting a re-registration application, but, was submitting an initial TPS application.

If the applicant is filing an application as a re-registration, a previous grant of TPS must have been afforded the applicant, as only those individuals who are granted TPS must register annually. In addition, the applicant must continue to maintain the conditions of eligibility. 8 C.F.R. § 244.17.

In this case, the applicant is not a current TPS registrant. Therefore, she is not eligible to re-register for TPS. Consequently, the director's decision to deny the application will be affirmed.

It is noted that the director's decision does not explore the possibility that the applicant was attempting to file a late initial application for TPS instead of an annual re-registration.

Section 244(c) of the Act, and the related regulations in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2, provide that an applicant may apply for TPS during the initial registration period, or:

- (f) (2) During any subsequent extension of such designation if at the time of the initial registration period:

- (i) The applicant is a nonimmigrant or has been granted voluntary departure status or any relief from removal;
 - (ii) The applicant has an application for change of status, adjustment of status, asylum, voluntary departure, or any relief from removal which is pending or subject to further review or appeal;
 - (iii) The applicant is a parolee or has a pending request for reparole; or
 - (iv) The applicant is a spouse or child of an alien currently eligible to be a TPS registrant.
- (g) Has filed an application for late registration with the appropriate Service director within a 60-day period immediately following the expiration or termination of conditions described in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

The initial registration period for Hondurans was from January 5, 1999 to August 20, 1999. The record reveals that the applicant filed the current application with CIS on February 16, 2006.

To qualify for late registration, the applicant must provide evidence that during the initial registration period she fell within at least one of the provisions described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2) above.

The burden of proof is upon the applicant to establish that he or she meets the above requirements. Applicants shall submit all documentation as required in the instructions or requested by CIS. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(a). The sufficiency of all evidence will be judged according to its relevancy, consistency, credibility, and probative value. To meet his or her burden of proof, the applicant must provide supporting documentary evidence of eligibility apart from his or her own statements. 8 C.F.R. § 244.9(b).

On appeal, counsel for the applicant states that the applicant had submitted a late initial registration and not a re-registration application. According to counsel, the applicant is eligible for late initial registration because her mother is a TPS-eligible applicant. While regulations may allow children of TPS beneficiaries to file their applications after the initial registration period had closed; these regulations do not relax the requirements for eligibility for TPS, the child is still required to meet the residence and physical presence requirements as provided in 8 C.F.R. §§ 244.2(b) and (c). The applicant has provided insufficient evidence to establish her qualifying continuous residence since December 30, 1998 and continuous physical presence from January 5, 1999 to the filing date of the TPS application. It is also noted that the applicant's mother, on her initial TPS application, received on April 19, 1999, indicated that the applicant was in Honduras. This is further evidence that the applicant has not met the continuous residence and physical presence criteria described in 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(b) and (c). Therefore, the application must be denied for these reasons as well.

The applicant has failed to provide any evidence to establish that this application should be accepted as a late initial registration under 8 C.F.R. § 244.2(f)(2). Therefore, the application also must be denied for this reason.

Beyond the director's decision, it is noted that although the applicant has submitted a copy of a birth certificate with English translation, the applicant has failed to provide sufficient evidence to establish her nationality and identity.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
